Reds Claim U.N. Massacred Civilian Prisoners At Koje

Large Peacetime Military Buildup Planned In West

Lisbon, Portugal, Feb. 23.—(AP)— The Atlantic Nations tonight committed themselves to a master plan for the biggest peacetime military buildup in history.

The plan calls for an Allied defense wall of between 45 and 50 divisions to be stretched this year across the continent of Europe.

This is to be raised to double that number of men in arms by the end of 1954.

The plan will cost more than 300 billion dollars, but the ministers attending the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's ninth council session adopted it unanimously as an investment in security from Communist attack.

The master plan, in more formal terms is the report of the NATO temporary council committee (TCC) headed by W. Avrell Harriman of the United States.

It was adopted virtually without debate, and with little comment.

Its adoption leaves the NATO council with only two major problems to handle before the ministers leave for home Monday.

They still have to agree on

COMMUNIST ROUNDUP

A roundup of civilian Communist guerrillas behind U. N. lines in Korea netted this bag of prisoners marching through the town of Chong-gu on their way to a prison camp. Rioting of similar captives in a P. O. W. camp resulted in the death of 70 Communist and P. O. W. guards and was the result of a protest against screening of Reds from among loyal South Koreans. Enemy Truce Delegates Lodge 'Serious Protest,' Hint They Will Push Investigation Of Riot In Eighth Army Compound

Munsan, Korea, Sunday, Feb. 24.—(AP)— The Korean armistice talks were tied into fresh knots today by a Communist charge that the Allies had "barbarously" massacred civilian prisoners on Koje Island Monday.

Lodging a "serious protest" Saturday, Communist negotiators served notice they would have plenty more to say about the Red-led riot in which 75 Korean prisoners and one U. S. soldier guard were killed.

"Our side reserves the right to pursue further into this intolerable, sanguinary incident," said Col. Tsai Cheng-Wen, Chinese Communist staff officer at the prisoner exchange session.

'(A Peiping English language broadcast heard in San Francisco coached Tsai's remarks in these stronger words:

"We will continue with our accusation against you and take it before the people of the whole world. I hereby solemnly declare that we reserve the right to investigate this intolerable bloodshed."

(This was the first hint that the Communists would insist on making their own investigation. Inquiries now are being made by the U. S. Eighth army and the International Red Cross.)

The protest was delivered to Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway and an Allied spokesman indicated any reply would come from the supreme commander.

In this atmosphere of new bitterness, staff officers of both sides arranged to meet again at 11 a.m. (9 p.m. Saturday E. S. T.) to grapple again with the prisoner exchange and truce supervision issues.

The Communists Saturday seized upon the rioting to bolster their arguments against Allied demands for voluntary repatriaton of prisoners. The Reds want all prisoners returned, forcibly if necessary.

"The latest massacre," Tsai asserted, "fully testifies to the brutal inhumanity with which your side treats our personnel captured

Communists Riot At Koje Kills 76; 5,000 Are Involved

Koje Island, Korea, Feb. 23.—(AP)— The Communist riot among Korean civilian prisoners on this island Monday cost 76 lives and involved most of the 5,900 men in notorious "compound 62," the new camp commander and witnesses told correspondents today.

One of the dead was an American soldier whose skull was fractured.

Prison officials placed the total of injured prisoners at 139 and said 39 American soldier guards were treated for wounds and 40 others suffered minor injuries. One of the soldiers was on the critical list.

News of the riot was withheld by the army until Friday, and correspondents were permitted to visit the camp only today.

Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd, U. S. Eighth army deputy chief of staff who took command of the Koje prisons after the riot, told reporters the 5,900 - man compound 62 was dominated by "Communists, radical Communists."

Witnesses said that practically all of the prisoners in the compound participated in the attack on 750 American guards, rather than the 1,500 mentioned in the first army account.

Here is the description given by officials and witnesses of the outbreak, which the Reds already have made an issue at the Ko-

Cobb Re-Elected President As Closing Of Convention Here

Al M. Cobb, of Jena, yesterday was re-elected president of the Louisiana Telephone Association at the fourth annual convention director's luncheon at the Frances Hotel.

Other ffiocers elected were J. M. Nelson of Welch, who was re-elected vice-president, John Brady, of Golden Meadows, secretary and Earl Conrad, of Breaux Bridge, treasurer.

The two - day convention closed with a word of warning concerning lack of interest in civil defense from George Tidwell, district director of civil defense, who substituted for W. L. Manship, Louisiana state director of civil defense, who was unable to attend.

Tidwell cautioned the members against forgetting the part that that communication would play in a national emergency and the necessity of being prepared beforehand to meet such an emergency.

C. A. Van Hone, Louisiana manager of Southern Bell Telephone company, spoke of is belief in the future of Louisiana, "because of the progress she has made recently, both industrially and educationally and because of the increase in her financial status.

The importance of filling out necessary forms properly to secure the procuration and allocation of critical materials was emphasized by E. C. Shaffer, national production authority in the department of commerce in Washington.

Also on the program was J. B. Pagnette, auditor of REA, who explained the methods of bookkeeping as required by the FCC.

About 75 members of the organization, including representatives of telephone manufacturing and supply equipment concerns and officials of Southern Bell Telephone Co., were represented at the convention, President Cobb said.

W. A. Neal, 47, of 807 Natchitoches street, West Monroe passed out yesterday at about 5 p. m. in front of the Central Savings Bank on Trenton street and was carried to the Charity Hospital.

Doctors said Neal was over-intoxicated, and following his release from the hospital West Monroe police arrested him on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. He was placed in the West Monroe city jail on a twenty-five dollar bond.

Shreveport Flier Bags MIG, Is Ace

Seoul, Sunday, Feb. 24. —(AP)— Swift U. S. Sabres Saturday destroyed one MIG-15 and damaged two more in an air battle over northwest Korea that produced a new jet ace.

Credit for the kill went to Maj. William T. Whisner, Shreveport, La., who was an ace in World War II and now finds himself an ace in the Korean war with five and one - half MIGs.

Whisner's plane flashed in and shot down a MIG that was about to knock out another Sabre in a thrilling dog fight between 35 U. S. and 40 Communist jets.

While the air battle raged, air force and marine warplanes struck hard at Communist positions close behind the front. Pilots estimated they destroyed 61 troop and supply shelters and 12 bunkers.

Marine planes buzzed what they thought was a snow field on the central front. They found the "snow" actually was a field of Communist troops in winter camouflaged uniforms. When the "snow fields" began running, marine planes opened up and killed 50 enemy soldiers.

The quiet along the battlefront was broken in the east by a heavy Communist barrage of mortar and artillery fire. Front line officers said the fire was unusually heavy but it did not appear to be the prelude to a Communist offensive.

Most of the fire came from a hill position which the troops call "Luke the Gook's Castle." More than 200 mortar shells hit one advanced Allied position alone.

The fifth air force reported 10 MIGs were destroyed, one probably destroyed and nine damaged in seven days of air battles ending Friday. In the same period the fifth lost 10 planes but none in air combat.

In Tokyo, the far east air forces Saturday estimated its total combat losses of the Korean war at 531, which with non - combat losses brings the F. E. A. F.'s overall total losses to 1,100 planes.

3 Injured Here In Car Accident

Three people were slightly injured in an automobile accident at about 8 p. m. yesterday three miles west of Monroe on Highway 80.

Two of those injured, James Hemphill, 24, Oak Grove, La. and his wife Lorraine, 18, were taken to the Charity Hospital by a Mulhearn ambulance where they were treated for minor cuts, lacerations and bruises, and released shortly afterwards.

Hemphill said the driver of the other car was knocked unconscious by the collision, but was not badly hurt.

The accident occured when the 1950 Mercury driven by Hemphill, who was returning to Oak Grove from Ruston, skidded side-ways on the road and was struck in the left side by a 1951 Ford Victoria traveling west on the highway.

Both cars were considerably damaged.

No information was available late last night as to the identify of the driver of the other car or the exact number of passengers.

Phantom In Twin Cities To Select Safe Driver

Are you a safe driver?

The Phantom Driver, starting Monday will cruise the streets of Monroe and West Monroe to select a safety driver of the week.

Anyone, who obeys all the rules of safe driving, will be eligible to be named as the "Safety Driver" of the week and will receive prizes donated by the retail merchants division of the Monroe Chamber of Commerce and the West Monroe Business Men's Association.

An all-expense paid trip to Nassau, Bahamas via Delta Airlines for seven days and six nights will be the grand award for the person selected from all the weekly winners as the safest driver.

The Monroe News-Star — World will also award the weekly winners $5 a piece. Many local business men in the Twin Cities, who are not associated with the organized merchants, have announced that they would like to donate to the worthy award.

Pictures of the two persons receiving the award will be made each week and will appear in the News-Star.

The Louisiana state police, Ouachita parish sheriff's department, Monroe and West Monroe police departments have joined the safety campaign in an effort to stop useless deaths on the highways.

Figures compiled by the four law enforcement agencies showed that 66 deaths occurred in northeast Louisiana in 1951 with 57 being outside the city limits.

Safety rules which a driver will have to observe in order to be picked as the safety driver of the week are as follows:

Obey speed limits, respect the rights of other motorists, yield the right-of-way to pedestrians in the crosswalks, come to a complete stop at stop signs and observe the stop and go signals, heed signs and pavement mark-

BURNED SCHOOL TO BE REBUILT

Sherrouse Fire Loss To Be Replaced; Hope To Complete For Sept.

The proof of loss covering the loss and damage to the addition to the Sherrouse School in the recent fire was signed on Thursday of this week by Warren F. Taylor, chairman of the Monroe city school board, and by Don A. Baxter, contractor.

Repair and rebuilding of the damaged and destroyed sections of building will begin immediately. The contractor has assured the board that every possible effort will be exerted to complete the building by the opening date of the schools for the session of 1951-52.

Figures prepared by the contractor covering the loss and damage were checked and compared with estimates prepared by Haag Engineering Company of Dallas, Tex., employed by the insurance companies. The final total figure accepted by all parties concerned in the settlement established the cost of rebuilding the remaining portions of the structure back to the stage of completion in which they existed at the time of the fire at $152,166.62.

Reduction In M'Arthur's Staff Rapped

Washington, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Some members of congress approved today the cut in Gen. Douglas MacArthur's staff. Others called it "small potatoes" and said if the administration really wants to economize it can make deep slashes in Pentagon brass.

Still others said they wanted a more complete explanation from the defense department before making up their minds whether the move was justified. MacArthur himself had no comment.

The order cutting MacArthur's staff from eight to three men came from Army Secretary Frank Pace, Jr., and was revealed yesterday in New York by MacArthur's aide, Col. Laurence E. Bunker.

Bunker said he, a warrant officer and a sergeant were the three left on MacArthur's staff.

The army said the reduction was merely routine. It said all five-star generals like MacArthur not assigned to specific duty were entitled to only three men.

It added that General George C. Marshall, the only other five-star officer not now assigned to specific military duty, has only three aides assigned to him.

Representative Mahon (D.-Tex.) chairman of a house appropriations subcommittee that has a say in military appropriations, said he thought three is enough, "if not too many," unless they are performing some "active or advisory service." But he said he is ask-

Construction Of W. M. High School Delayed

A decision of whether to continue construction of the West Monroe High School after it was learned that between 18 and 20 rooms are being constructed two inches smaller than specified was postponed until Monday by the Ouachita parish school board at a special meeting Saturday morning.

A committee comprised of Marcus Swayze, W. B. Inabnet, Charlie Wall, Jr., and Ed Hislop was appointed by President James Trousdale to go into the situation and decide whether or not the steel walls will be torn down and made larger and if they will be left as they are.

Construction on the high school has been halted for approximately six weeks because of the contracting error in the dimension of anchor bolts.

The special meeting was called by President Trousdale for the purpose of deciding what should be done in regard to construction of the high school.

Swayze pointed out that he had known nothing about the mistake until last Thursday and that he felt he would like more time to talk with those more familiar with building problems.

It was explained that if construction is continued as it is, 70 square feet will be left out of the building.

President Trousdale asked that the committee look into the situation and meet at 11 a. m. Monday in the office of Smith and Padgett the school board's architects.

Padgett said that this was a minor error which often occurs in buildings of this size and advised the board that correcting the two inch error would involve tearing down a steel wall, would take approximately 60 days, and pointed out that it would cost approximately $20,000.

The architect said that ordinarily a matter of this nature could be settled between the architect and contractor.

However, it was pointed out that

Commissioner Of Finance Points To Record Of Accomplishments

Frank X. Cline announced today that he would be a candidate for re-election to his present position as commissioner of finance and utilities in the coming election.

Cline stated that he would run upon his record of accomplishments for the city of Monroe during the past four years, together with additional improvements now being planned, which will be announced at a later date.

Cline stated that during his administration the capacity at the power plant had been more than doubled, the water plant had been modernized and expanded, the distribution systems of both the water plant and electrical system have been modernized and expanded, and additional water improvements are now underway. The bus service has been improved and extended to all parts of the city at a rate unequaled by any bus system in the state.

The commissioner of finance and utilities said that a more complete platform suggesting further favored improvements would be announced in the near future.

39 Highway Employees Are Fired

Hammond, La., Feb. 23.—(AP)— Thirty-nine state highway department employes have been dismissed since Appeal Judge Robert Kennon won the gubernatorial nomination last Tuesday.

All were under the jurisdiction of the sixth highway maintenance district at Hammond. Thirteen of the men were in the Hammond area and the other 26 were in St. Helena parish.

Marcus Stafford, Franklinton, district maintenance foreman, said today no reason was given for the dismissal of the men in the Hammond area. Stafford, with the department for more than 22 years, and one of those fired said none of the men had less than four years service and none was active in politics.

Stafford said he voted for Kennon, who successfully opposed Carlos Spaht, the candidate sponsored by Gov. Earl K. Long. Kennon will be inaugurated next May.

District Commissioner B. H. Bickham said the men had been fired to cut payroll expenses.

A reliable source in Greensburg, St. Helena parish, said the 26 workers there angrily declared they had been fired because they did not support Spaht.

Retirement Policy Given

Washington, Feb. 23.—(AP)—A long-awaited policy on retirement pension plans, which puts no limit on contributions by employers or workers and no limit on benefits, was issued tonight by the wage stabilization board (WSB).

The action paved the way for automatic approval of hundreds of Newnew and revised employe pension plans which have been held up for months awaiting a board policy.

WSB Chairman Nathan Feinsinger told a news conference the policy allows "maximum latitude" in establishing pension and retirement systems.

Girl Taken By Masked Man Is Returned Safely

Montreal, Que., Feb. 23.—(AP)— Barbara Nemeroff, 3, snatched from her home last night by a masked youth who demanded $50,000 ransom, was returned unharmed to her tearful parents today.

Two detectives, acting on a telephone tip, found the curly-haired child walking along downtown St. Catherine street with a 16-year-old boy employed in a leather goods firm of the girl's father, Morris Nemeroff, and promptly arrested the boy.

The prisoner was hauled away protesting to reporters he had taken the child because "I like girls" and had not molested her.

Police identified the youth as Robert Patenaude. They said the only motive they could think of for the abduction was some union difficulty which Nemeroff had with his employes about 18 months ago.

The parents demanded "fullest prosecution."

Barbara, still hugging a doll she was holding when the kidnaper took her off, was taken to police headquarters to see her parents and receive a medical checkup.

Asked if she was frightened, the child said: "No. I went for a ride in the dark and I looked out the window. When is daddy coming to bring me my crayons?"

Her father rushed into the room at that moment. Tears streaming down his face, he seized Barbara in his arms. Behind him was Mrs. Nemeroff, her eyes red from weeping.

"I was praying to God, we'd find her," the young mother said. "God has been good to us."

Barbara was more interested in drinking some pop a smiling detective poured into a paper cup for her. She seemed puzzled at all the fuss.

"We've bought you a whole piece of celluloid.

She said the "nice man" had flock of books and crayons, Barby," her father said. "We'd better go home and see them, eh?"

Discovery of Barbara and the youth ended one of the biggest manhunts in Montreal history.

The abductor forced his way into the Nemeroff apartment over the Nemeroff leather goods shop last night while the parents were away. He ordered the maid, Alice Lachance, 25, to dress the child.

As he left with Barbara, he handed the maid a crudely printed note in French warning against calling police and demanding $50,000 be delivered today to the shoe section of a Montreal store.

The maid, near hysteria and unable to reach the Nemeroffs, ignored the warning and phoned police.

Police said the abductor had entered the Nemeroff home by forcing a bolt on the door with a

The maid told police she was unable to give much description of the man's clothes, but remembered he wore a mask, a yellow scarf and brown gloves.

Police soon picked up another man, a former Nemeroff employe, who had a yellow scarf and glovos, but expressed doubt he was involved.

He told them he had spent the evening at a movie with a friend.

Before Barbara was restored to him, Nemeroff said he didn't have $50,000, but would do all he could to cooperate with the abductor. He expressed fear that making the news public might frighten the kidnaper into harming the child or abandoning her in the freezing weather.

The tip that sent detectives on the right trail came from Mrs. Margaret Henry, 25. She said she had seen the pair and recognized the girl from broadcast descriptions.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

Last night Little Theatre passed the half way mark with its production of the season "The Play's The Thing", and as I have said before, the talk is so wonderful that the play is indeed the thing.

Just in case you have forgotten, Sunday night is a regular night of performance for Little Theatre this season. The Sunday night performances for "Abie's Irish Rose" and "All My Sons" were complete sell outs, howecer, I am receiving so many inquiries now, as to whether there will be a Sunday night performance of "The Play's The Thing", that say yes in Capitol Letters.

So if you are free tonight how about availing yourselves of the opportunity to see the play. The boxoffice is ready to seat you; the hostesses are ready to serve you and the cast is ready to amuse you.

Random Notes: It was quite interesting to pick up a copy of Bill Board dated February 16, and find a review of "The Play's The Thing". Equity Liberty Theatres, Inc., revival of Molnar's comedy opened at the Lenox Hill Playhouse, January 30 and is still running. From the criticism, it seems that the New Yorkers are enjoying "The Play's The Thing" just as much as we Monroyans. . . . . Father and Mrs. David Jones of Grace Episcopal Church, who have been avid Little Theatre members, are saying goodbye to Monroe this Sunday. After today's service they will be saying hello to Denison, Tex. . . . . .The Clay Albrights were saying so long to friends on Friday as they prepared to start their move that night to their new home in Natchitoches, La. Frances Albright is remembered for her performance in the much raved about comedy "John Loves Mary." Sorry to lose her on the Little Theatre scene. . . Also lost another constant Little Theatrelte this week, Mrs. Carlton Salley, who managed to catch the Thursday evening performance of "The Play's The Thing" before she moved on Friday to her new home in Pine Bluff, Ark. It was the first time she and Aline Guthrie have missed seeing a performance together. . . . .had a real nice letter from Mr. and Mrs. James B. Mays of Winnsboro. The Mays are the theatre members whom we paged in the column to give us the names for their reservations on Friday evening. Winnsboro is really getting introduced to the theatre through members like the Mays. They brought as their guest, Mrs. Joe B. Calhoun, Miss Margaret L. Mays, Miss Amy S. Mays and Mrs. Mary W. Ferguson.

LITTLE THEATRE SKETCH

Thomas H. (Tommy) Inskeep, Jr. — who is winning much applause for his performance in the current production of "The Play's The Thing" is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Inskeep, Sr. He was born in the Crescent City of New Orleans but has been a resident of Monroe since 1934.

Tommy attended Neville High School where he was a member of Delta Sigma fraternity. After graduation in 1946, he went into the armed services for three years with the 11th Airborne Division. He spent two years with his unit in Camp Crawford, Sapparo, Japan, where he became interested in Oriental art. He says that some of the simplicity in Oriental art is reflected in our own modern furnishings. He was also very much impressed with the industriousness of the Japanese people as a whole.

The west coast will soon be seeing Tommy. He plans to study industrial design, possibly at Stanford University. Aside from his first love, art, he likes swimming and tennis.

The purpose of the organization is sound, practical and important for this and future generations. It is indeed gratifying to know that we have such a fine group of young men in the Future Farmers of America chapters and that all groups are striving to better their conditions, develop into good useful citizens and leaders, and to make this state of ours a better place in which to live." As a climax to National Boy Scout Week, a court of honor was held honoring these two scouts. Scout Mike Boggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Boggs, 806 Hilton street, and Lester Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Martin, 1314 Spencer street, were the recipients.

Scout Boggs entered scouting in November 1948. He was awarded the second class rank in August, 1949, first class in April, 1950, Star in July, 1950, and the life rank in February, 1951. He has earned the following merit badges: Athletics, first aid, life saving, pioneering, safety, swimming, personal health, public health, bird study, camping, citizenship, cooking, book binding, painting, woodwork, wood turning, carpentry, firemanship, pathfinding, home repairs, and forestry. He has served as a troop leader for the past two years.

Scout Martin entered the Boy Scout program as a tenderfoot scout in October 1948. He was awarded the second class rank in July, 1949, first class in December of the same year, Star rank in June, 1950, and the life rank in April 1951. In addition to serving for two years as a troop leader, he has qualified for the following merit badges: athletics, first aid, life saving, pioneering, safety swimming, personal health, public health, bird study, camping, citizenship, cooking, art, carpentry, reading, stamp collecting, woodwork, pathfinding, forestry, firemanship and scholarship.

To qualify for the highest rank in scouting, a scout must, in addition to earning twenty-one merit badges, of which eleven are required, be approved by his troop leaders in scout spirit and participation. His scoutcraft requirements are centered around his proficiency in hiking and camping skills in the lower ranks and his exploration of vocations and hobbies in the merit badges. This is only one-third of the requirements. His scout spirit develops as he understands and lives up to the ideals of the oath and law.

His actions reflect his progress in this field and the troop leaders are constantly checking his progress. His scout participation grows as he takes a more definite part of the patrol and troop leadership. These characteristics are reviewed at each rank advancement along with the other requirements for rank.

After a Scout qualifies for the first five ranks and meets the additional tests for the highest award, his application is submitted to the National Council, Boy America, and is reviewed by the national court of honor committee. The award is then approved and returned to the local council for the proper awarding ceremonies.

An Eagle scout is recognized throughout Americas as the highest award a scout can receive. Many outstanding leaders have endorsed the achievements of these select scouts and expect only the finest performance from these young men. J. Paschal Norris presided.

Economic Highlights

Many years ago there was a great deal of talk about the "yellow peril"—the idea being that some day the Asian nations, with their enormous superiority in manpower over the white races, would rise in revolt against the western world and attempt to subjugate it. Certain newspapers and writers played this up to the hilt and frightening books of prophecy were written about it. Some people took it with the utmost seriousness; others regarded it as nonsense, and argued that the alleged yellow peril was the deliberate creation of yellow journalism.

In any event, the troubles that now exist in the smoldering eastern world are, to some degree at least, proof that the prophecy of the yellow peril was not entirely farfetched. And these troubles—in Egypt, Pakistan, and elsewhere—are not isolated phenomena. They are parts of a whole. The east feels that it has been exploited, subjected to centuries of injustice. Whether this point of view be right or wrong is not the point. That is the way the east feels, and it is determined to do something about it.

Many writers and thinkers are dealing with this vast problem. One of them is Robert Kazmayer, who devoted an extremely interesting newsletter to it some time ago. In Mr. Kazmayer's view, our universe is in the throes of a threefold revolution. The three dominant factors, which he terms "locomotives of history," are: First, a worldwide revolution of the less privileged people, who are mostly colored, against the wealthy nations; second, the revolution of the masses against the autonomous individual; third, the revolution of today's chemical-technological age with its atomic fission against the mechanical age which created the society we know.

Against this background, Mr. Kazmayer goes on, stand two other tremendous factors. First, the population of the world is growing at a terrific rate, and the colored population is twice as large as the white and breeding twice as fast. Thus, the demand for the world's goods grows ever-greater, especially among the nations which have little. The second factor is that one nation, the United States, towers above all others in material wealth and possessions. We are a very young nation, and we have but 6 per cent of the world's population and land area. Yet, Mr. Kazmayer points out, we have 85 per cent of the world's automobiles, 54 per cent of its telephones, 92 per cent of its bathtubs, 40 per cent of its electric power, and so on. We consume 65 per cent of the world's corn, 60 per cent of its oil, 45 per cent of its meat. Thus, Mr. Kazmayer reasons, the locomotives of history "are being strategically directed against America," and the Kremlin is doing the directing. The Kremlin makes much of the statement that it stands for equality of all races, and here, Mr. Kazmayer says, the Kremlin is honest—"it would just as soon have colored slaves as white."

Mr. Kazmayer offers no solution—he simply outlines what he believes is happening. At the end of his report, he wrote, "One thing you can be sure of: There's no normalcy, no return to older order, not for America, not for the world, not in our time. Until these three engines of history have been brought under control, or have spent their steam there'll be no peace as we used to understand that word."

Some Clarification Needed?—

In New Orleans, Wednesday, Governor-Elect Kennon, asked by the Associated Press as to his plans in connection with the national Truman political situation, replied:

"I'm going to make haste slowly on national affairs. I think the policy of the Democratic party in Louisiana should be to watch developments and move along with developments in other states."

In New Orleans on last September 21st, Candidate Kennon told the Associated Press:

"I will (if elected governor) do everything in my power to block renomination of President Truman. If he should manage to win the nomination, I will assist in the fight against his election with every means at my command."

Further expressing his views to the Associated Press at that time, Judge Kennon said:

"This is a matter of principle with me. The Truman administration is rotten with spending spree corruption . . . I am sick to the heart with mink coats and deep freeze gifts for official favor; with five per-centers and RFC deals made with or through phoney generals and friends of the man in the White House . . . This corruption and bad example is likely to lead our young people into the paths that lead only to the destruction of our democracy. It's got to be stopped and I pledge I will do everything I can to stop it . . ."

The statements of Candidate Kennon on September 21st, 1951, and of Governor-Elect Kennon on February 20th, 1952, can of course be reconciled, but it will take clarification of the second statement to do so. This should and undoubtedly will come from the governor-elect before the Democratic state central committee meeting at the end of this month.

Security For Royalty

It is hard for the average American citizen who earns his money a dollar at a time, so to speak, to understand the high finance which apparently goes with royalty.

The late King George of England had been giving his brother, the Duke of Windsor, $70,000 a year, although the duke was known to have a personal fortune of something less than a million dollars when he took it on the lam from the throne. It is understood no provision had been made by the king to contribute these payments after his death.

At the same time it is believed some provision for the duke has been made in the king's will, which will never be made public. But a London newspaper says it unduobtedly will be much less than the $70,000 a year he has been receiving.

In recent years the duke has received considerable sums in royalties from his writings, and he probably will not be in financial straits if his career as a remittance man is ended.

Regardless of the obligations and onerous pomp which accompany royalty, there is a decided advantage in being born in the purple, financially speaking. The English people are suffering in an era of austerity. But royalty does not feel a financial pinch.

The First Female Lame Duck—

Mary Evelyn Dickerson resigned her lush post as director of the state department of commerce and industry to run for state land register, receiving the same sound drubbing at the hands of the electorate that the rest of her Earl Long ticket received. The resignation was accomplished with a great deal of fanfare about how Mary Evelyn wouldn't let herself be known as a payroller—when the word is used in a non-commendatory political manner. At that time she made it very clear that when a public office holder became a candidate for a new office, the old office should be given up without qualifications.

But, turned down by the electorate, Mary Evelyn has plunged headlong right back into the public payroll even though she again will be severed from it 10 weeks hence when the Kennon administration goes into office. She becomes the state's first female lame duck. Once a payroller, it's hard as heck to pass up even one pay check, much less two and a half. Probably Mary Evelyn thinks she deserves some kind of bonus from the taxpayers for resigning her office, even temporarily.

BASCOM TIMMONS
In Washington

The postoffice department ridiculed the idea that it would use scooters to speed up mail delivery, but it did, to the extent that letter carriers are now reporting broken legs and other casualties.

That is just one incident in the continuing confusion surrounding the delivery of the United States mails, which came about as a result of a $28,000,000 curtailment in postal services in 1950. Cuts in deliveries, collections of mail and abolition of the directory service, by which improperly addressed mail was forwarded to the proper address, if possible, were regarded as temporary at that time, but they are still in effect, and so far as can now be ascertained, they will remain so indefinitely.

So far the restrictions on postal service are the only large scale economy effected by a civilian agency, and despite the postal rate increases which became effective this year, raising the penny postcard to the two cent level and boosting rates on other classes of mail on which the postoffice departments had been running a deficit, there does not seem to be a chance of restoring the service to the general public to its former satisfactory level.

Business men are apparently the most emphatic complainants, as members of congress report that the volume of protests from residential districts has decreased to a trickle. But the fact remains that the U. S. mails are now on a once a day delivery basis to most addresses and that all collections for the day must be completed in time for mail to reach the postoffice by 8:30 p. m.

As to the scooter business, Postmaster General Jesse Donaldson, first "career man" to hold that office told a letter carriers' convention at Miami, Fla. that it would be ridiculous to recommend that every carrier be provided with a scooter to carry mail, but they were soon in use in a number of cities on an experimental basis.

Senator William Langer (Rep. N. D.) recently told the senate that he had talked with hundreds of postal employees and found their morale "very very low." He asserted that the U. S. has never had poorer postal service than it has at the present time. This was in spite of a $400 flat annual increase given all full time employees by the last session of congress.

The postal dilemma bears a superficial resemblance to the reductions in the armament program decreed by President Truman in 1949 at the instance of the then Secretary Defense Louis Johnson. At the outbreak of the Korean war, the whole program had t obe relaunched at a cost several times the economies claimed in the previous year.

The curtailment of postal service was supposed to have saved $28,000,000 or more. Now Postmaster General Donaldson estimates that it would cost from $125,000,000 to $150,000,000 to restore the service to its pre-1950 efficiency.

General Dwight Eisenhower has presidential derby that has probably not come to public attention as yet.

He does not have an "a" in either his first or last name. Thirty of the 32 presidents of the United States have had an "a" in their name. The only exceptions were John Tyler and Theodore Roosevelt.

Harry Truman, of course, qualifies, and so does Robert A. Taft. Estes Kefauver, Adlai Stevenson, Harold Stassen, and Earl Warren also have " 's" in their names. Only Senator Robert Kerr (Dem.-Okla.) among the current group of hopefuls lacks an "a."

Even Vice - President Alben Barkley and Speaker Sam Rayburn, who stand second and third in the line of presidential sucession at the moment have the requisite "a's."

Perhaps some hope can be entertained for "Ike," however, in view of the fact that his middle name, David, has an "a" in it.

Besides, traditions are often shattered nowadays.

Standing on the steps of the stately Lincoln Memorial during the observance of Abraham Lincoln's birth, Carl Sandburg famous as a biographer of the Civil War president, demonstrated that he could be as down to earth as his subject. Asked whether Lincoln could be compared to Winston Churchill as an orator Sandburg said:

"Mae West once wrote a play in which the two leading characters were killed off in the first act. One of the critics protested that Shakespeare would not have done it that way, that he would have waited until the last act.

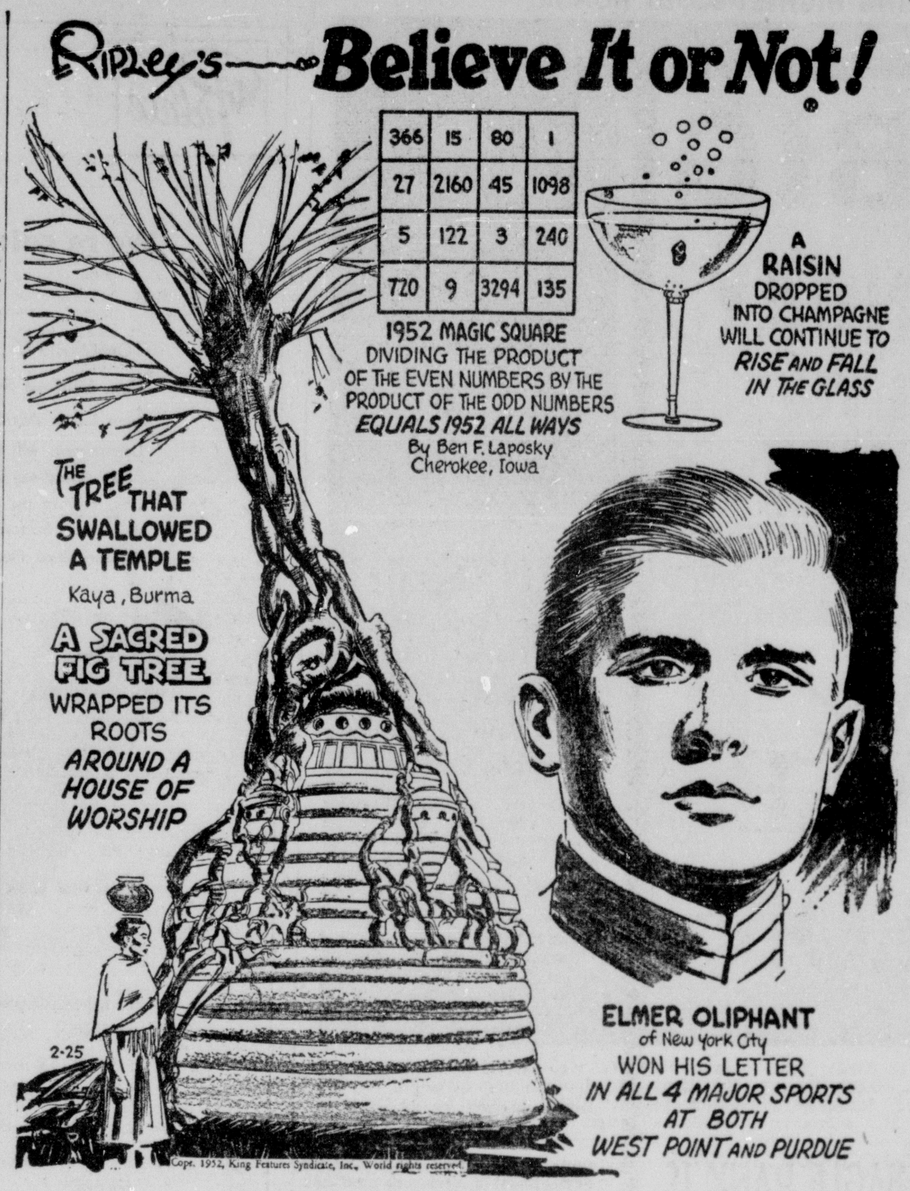

" 'Well,' said Mae with a switch of the hips, 'Shakespeare had his methods and I have mine'."

"It's the same way with Lincoln and Churchill. Each had his own method."

BIBLE THOUGHTS:

Then came Jesus forth, wearing the crown of thorns, and the purple robe. And Pilate saith unto them, Behold the man!—John 19:5.

The best of men that even wore earth about Him was a sufferer, a soft, meek, patient, humble, tranquil spirit, the first true gentleman that ever breathed.—Decker.

DOWN SOUTH

PRODUCE MORE MILK

The Milk Industry Foundation has just issued some "Milk Facts" which the south would do well to ponder.

As great as have been the strides made in the south in recent years in diversified agriculture, in emphasizing the south's agricultural advantages with its favorable climate and long growing season, and even in the development of the cattle industry, the south still needs more — and better—milk cows.

There was a time, when as a boy I used to get up on a frosty morning and milk six cows before breakfast, that I thought we had too many milk cows—but statistics that are just as cold as those frosty mornings prove me wrong, even with all the improvement we have made in the meantime.

The published figures show that the 1950 U. S. farm milk production amounted to 56 billion 72 million quarts. However, the sixteen southern states, which comprise one-third the area and contain one-third the people of the United States, only produced 13 billion 281 million quarts. In other words, instead of producing its 33 per cent share of the naiton's milk, the south only produced 22 per cent.

The south both can and should remedy this situation. The south very easily can do so, because all the natural advantages for dairying are in its favor. The growing season for forage crops of all sorts is much longer in the south and not nearly so much dependence must be placed upon silage and dry feeds. The production of feed for dairy cattle is not only cheaper in the south, but the housing and care in the much less rigorous climate of the south is also less expensive.

The south should produce more milk both because of its importance in the diet of the people and because its monetary value would add greatly to the economic welfare of the region. Milk, in some form or other, comprises more than 20 per cent of the foods consumed annually by the average American, and its importance in the diet cannot be over-estimated. Consumption in the United States at the present time is more than 13 per cent above pre-war levels, with more than 60 million quarts of fresh milk and cream used daily.

Moreover, the cash farm income from milk ranks second only to that from cattle and calves. It is more than the total income from hogs, nearly one and a half times the income from poultry and eggs, twice that of wheat, more than one and a half times that of cotton, almost four times the total for tobacco, and so on. But the south only realizes 21 per cent of this cash income from milk.

The production of creamery butter and cheese, of course, represents one of our most important agriculture - industry integrations. When we consider the amount of these two items produced in the south, we realize still more sharply the region's shortage along these lines.

Of the nation's production of 1,-395,105,000 pounds of creamery butter in 1950, the south only produced 175,160,000 pounds, or 12.5 per cent. Of the nation's production of 882,850,000 pounds of cheese in 1950, the south only produced 163,520,000 pounds, or 18 per cent. The state of Minnesota alone produced 44 per cent more creamery butter than all sixteen southern states combined. The state of Wisconsin produced 15 per cent more cheese than all sixteen southern states combined. These figures mean that the south is importing great quantities of dairy products which it should be producing.

There is a wide variation in the production of dairy products by the states of the south. For instance, Kentucky produces 21,870,000 pounds of creamery butter, while North Carolina produces only 1,-760,000 pounds. Again, Tennessee produces 37,950,000 pounds of cheese, while Alabama produces only 3,210,000 pounds.

The south could add greatly to its welfare in every way by paying more time and attention to the dairy industry.

New York—(AP)—What is a junior executive?

You hear more and more about this character. But he seems to me a pretty mysterious and will-o'-the wisp fellow, and I am not sure he really exists at all. I am beginning to think he is just a figment of somebody's imagination.

No one can tell me for sure what a junior executive really is, because nobody ever seems to have met one in the flesh.

Go up to anyone you know who works in an office for a living and ask, "are you a junior executive?" He may flush with embarrassed pleasure or turn upon you in cold anger, but he is certain to answer, "Who, me? Of course not."

Everybody has heard of junior executives, but nobody will admit he is one. That's why I don't think there really are any.

Opinion varies as to just what a junior executive is. Some people think of him as a fine clean modest alert young man who has climbed the first rung of the ladder of success. Others see him as merely a young stuffed shirt, a petty officer tyrant who tries to get ahead by aping the real executives.

That's part of the mystery of the junior executive—he's anything you want to believe he is: A would-be boss in rompers, or industry's new type Horatio Alger. And nobody seems to know for sure just what his job is except to sit around and wait for the senior executive to drop dead.

The clearest picture of these new toy tycoons of the business world is given in the magazine ads. You see two fine old senior executives discussing a busy young man seated at a desk in the background. One says, "I've got Bill there in mind for a top management job. He came to me and suggested, "Let's switch to using blotto typewritter ribbons.' Well, I did as he suggested, and that's why our business tripled last month. Keep your eye on Bill."

This romantic vision of the junior executive as a bright young man with simple, but overwhelmingly successful ideas is becoming more and more popular. Clothing is being designed to "Give that junior executive look." Banks are pleading: "Are you the junior executive type? Borrow from us—anything from $50 to $100, more or less, payable back in two lifetimes." Even motor car models are now "styled for the junior executive."

COMBATS CATTLE DISEASE

Saigon, Indo-China, —(AP)— The The Mutal Security Agency of the United States recently dispatched verterinary supplies by airplane to Phnom Penh to combat an outbreak of 'rinderpest" among Cambodian cattle and hogs. The disease, usually fatal to cattle, is believed to originate somewhere in the border strip between Cambodian and Thailand.

An extraordinary, new and revolutionary plan for TV is incubating. On its outcome will hang billions of dollars and the amusement habits of the entire nation, probably of most of the world.

NBC has engaged the brilliant showman, Billie Rose, at a fabulous fee, to survey the possibilities. The outlook is long - range. The changes probably will not be attempted for at least four years.

They will await the use of color television and three - dimensional projection. The potential idea is as follows:

On large screens in theatres all over the country, live plays, shows, operas and concerts, originating in New York and in Hollywood, are to be televised simultaneously.

That is, on the opening night on Broadway, for instance, audiences in as many cities as subscribe to the bookings—thousands, it is expected—will see the performance on the screens of their local houses.

The next day, the running show will play again, and again it will be sold around the nation, not repeated on film, but as it is being played.

One vital question to be ironed out is whether admission is to be paid or whether sponsors will carry the costs.

This may be solved by doing both. Prices may be low, with the advertisers subsidizing the costs in part.

The conventional 8:30-to-11 presentations may be revised and the intermission system of "legit" — two for "straight" and one for musical shows—changed to meet new problems, such as time variation across the map and interjection of "commericals."

Out-of-town bookings would soon become complex. An entirely uncharted booking system must be invented.

For instance, a "South Pacific" stays on Broadway for three years. It is videod in Dallas or Omaha or St. Louis from the start.

Those cities could not, with their smaller populations, keep up with such a run.

Los Angeles and Chicago might take it for a year; some towns could handle it for only a week or two.

But there would be other successes waiting to get into all those houses. And as they would end their initial runs others would their places. Thus attractions could be passed around rather steadily almost everywhere.

Television has been called a "monster" because it devours material so quickly. Being fed out somewhat as above proposed, it would be spaced to have a continued life. These shows would not be piped to private sets.

In the middle would be the movie industry.

The majors have refused their product, less than seven years old, for the newer medium.

They have been sitting it out, calculating that television must come to them, and, in time, a mutually profitable and satisfactory arrangement can be contrived.

But the new plan would be in direct competition with the films and the film theatres. When it goes into operation, the many millions of dollars in canned property (as I published one studio alone turned down $20,000,000 for its backlog) will dwindle drastically.

If Rose can work out all the "bugs" and the project gets going, it may retrieve thousands of theatres from the talkies and take over others originally built for screen entertainment.

Fancy a smash New York hit, available day after day in every city in the nation, made more palatable by the knowledge that it is coming in directly, not as a warmed over film.

It would not only feel immediately human, but if it were topical it would be fresh, with speech and fashions timely. And it would have the stamp of a metropolitan hit, reviewed and approved by the big-town critics.

That would probably eliminate "the road." Only the two national creative centers would produce, and they would exhaust the demand, eliminating the few troupes still touring.

The financing behind this experiment is limitless. And the technical and artistic and commercial brains behind it are equally boundless.

The project will certainly go into action.

The details are to be worked out and cannot be foretold, because the big men behind the idea don't know themselves at this stage, exactly what will be done and what adjustments will be found expedient.

But the central intentions will be carried out. Of that I am assured and convinced.

This, as far as I know, is the first mention of it in print.

EXPERIMENT FOR CHILDREN

Vancouver, Wash., —(AP)— The small fry should have lots of fun at school soon, with dentists starting to feed tahe rats again.

It's part of the Clark county Dental Society's "good teeth" program. The experiments will be carried out in 10 elementary schools, Dr. Raymond Campbell, president, explained. They will run for two months, during which time pupils will weigh each gram of food the rats eat and keep charts on the results.

"It's the best way we to show children the well-balanced diet, a one containing lots little or no milk," said.

Louisiana---Its Community Life

DOWN BLACK RIVER

History states that Highway 84, by Jena, on to Natchez is built along the route of the Old Spanish Trace. Riding over it, not long ago cars zipped by me bearing license tags from Pennsylvania to New Mexico. Turning back the pages of history again, I read that years after the first white man blazed a trail through the virgin forest here, other travelers from the east, coming to this southland of ours, found the under growth and trees so thick as to be almost impassable for the horses ladened with the absolute necessities for life.

Leaving Highway 84, at White Hall, Jonesville was not many minutes away. This town built at the head of Black River, where the Ouachita, Tensas and Little River empty into it, nestled in the morning sun, quiet and drowsy as a summer evening. Though it still has a saw mill, it isn't a lumber town any more. Today it is the center for the farm products, from the rich farm lands surrounding it, and is also a fish and pelt market, supplied by the trappers and fishermen, depending on the natural resources of woods and streams for their livelihood.

Down Black River, net buoys dot the waters, mile after mile, giving evidences of the men, ever working to supply the big cities with fish, and themselves and families with a living. Meeting and talking to these fishermen, their wives and children, I found them to be a happy, friendly, contented people, and a respecter of the law, "Live and let live." Seldom does any man try raising the net of his neighbor, and those that do rarely live to tell of their folly. If his body is found days later, floating on the surface of the water, a rifle bullet through the head is never noticed, and his obituary reads, "Drowned by falling from the boat while fishing."

Houseboats, some neat as a new pin, others tattered and worn, float close to the shore, or move from one fishing spot to another more favorable, miles away. Not often do these fishermen change their trade. Once a fisherman always a fisherman, can well be their theme song.

The crops, on the farms bordering the river, held the promise of a bountiful harvest to come.

With improved roads along the river, has come the school bus, where a short time ago the motor boat transferred the children to and from school. A young man seeing this part of Louisiana for the first time, remarked that civilization wasn't even known here. How wrong he was. They just know how to enjoy civilization.

Many notable persons in Louisiana today, serving the public as nurses, doctors, lawyers, teachers and clergymen, were born and reared on Black River, receiving their high school education from Block High School, at Jonesville. Every year these sons and daughters, now working in some distant part of the country, spend a few days or weeks in the land they love, enjoying many pleasures and renewing their childhood friendships. One such ancestral place is the Cotton plantation, several miles from Jonesville, peaceful and inviting to the passer - by from the wagon wheels framing the gate-way, a relic of the days before the jeep and truck pushed it into the background to the house, set back from the road, amidst gnarled old trees.

Scattered along the river are many beautiful houses, and its inhabitants stay on, "Come rain or high water," and after the flood recedes, paint their homes anew and live their lives of quiet and peace.

THESE DAYS

CLEANING THE SLATE

The American Federation of Radio Artists, known in the trade as AFRA, an exceedingly powerful organization, is another agency that has moved into the field of inhibiting the ability of Soviet Russia to infiltrate the cultural life of the American people. That is a real problem that needs an honest approach, not all mixed up by emotional factors.

It has been a tough fight over the years and whatever success has come has been due to not more than a few dozen or so intrepid spirits who, smeared, attacked, abused, have consistently remained true to their cause. I have, from time to time, listed some of the most notable in that fight. Every once in a while, I read of the claims of some hero who hopped on the bandwagon a year or so ago, when the peril of being a Communist stooge was wholly evident. If it pleases such a person to be in on the kill, that is his private joy, but neither personal nor historic records are made that way.

A certain motion picture producer has recently declared himself as the greatest fighter against communism in this country and has been for years. Unfortunately for his ego, there is no record. He must have kept it a deep secret. There are many such heroes now.

The AFRA resolution, which I shall give you in whole, is interesting in that it sets the date for virtue as December 31, 1945. Why that date? I set my own date as October, 1917 when the Bolshevik revolution succeeded. Or, if someone wants a more practical date, it could be in the year 1934 when the Harold Ware cell was organized or 1939 the year of the Stalin-Hitler alliance.

No fighter in the cause of anti-communism will accept the date of December 31, 1945 as either honest or practical. It means that those who helped steal the atom bomb are absolved; it means that those who supported conspiracies during the war years in the fashion of Alger Hiss are cleared. By adopting such a date, AFRA begs the question and only stimulates trouble for the radio and television industry, which is going to be scrutinized even more closely than the movies were, and which is more vulnerable because there is a consumers' goods commodity to set up as a target for sales resistance.

It is the intention of those who have been fighting communism in this country over a prolonged period that no one shall work in any cultural field, affecting the character of our children, who is a slave of the Kremlin. There is no date to that.

Except for this self-serving date, AFRA's resolution is a tremendous gain. I give you the text which could be copied by other industries — except the date, which is, at best, an historic stupidity:

"This is to inform you officially that the amendment to article III of the AFRA national constitution submitted to referendum was passed and is now part of the constitution (effective August 7, 1951).

"For your information, the text of the amendment follows:

" 'Amend article III (membership) to add the following two sections:

" 'Section 4. No person shall remain a member of AFRA or retain employment in AFRA, who has been proven to have maintained membership in, or to have joined the Communist party, since December 31st, 1945, in state or federal government court action;

"Or, who has been named as, or identified as, a Communist by the State Department, Justice Department, or by the FBI;

" 'Or, who after the adoption of this amendment maintains membership in any organization listed by the United States attorney general's office, or by any other duly constituted government agency as subversive;

" 'Or, who after the adoption of this amendment renders aid and assistance by knowingly lending his name or talents to, or by actively promoting the interests of or by making financial contribution to, any organization listed by the attorney general's office, or by any other duly constituted government agency, as subversive.

" 'Section 5. The national board may, in its discretion, require a written statement in affidavit form, from any officer, member, or employee of the association, or any local, to the effect that such officer, member, or employee is not, and has not since the adoption of this section been in violation of any of the provisions of section 4 of this article.' "

CARL B. CLOSE

CLOSE CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS

Mayor Of Alexandria Will Seek Post In Democratic Primary

Alexandria, La., Feb. 23. —(Special)—Mayor Carl B. Close of Alexandria said today he would be a candidate for congressman from the Eighth Congressional District in the Democratic Primary this summer.

'I intend to conduct a clean, constructive campaign throughout the district and I will solicit and appreciate the support of any and all political factions," he said. "Especially will I make an appeal to the independent voters."

Close said he believed his experience in executive, legislative and business matters would serve as a beneficial background to the office of congressman. His platform, he said, will be anncunced "at the proper time." He indicated it would include opposition to inflation and to the trend in federal government "toward socialism, communism and un-Americanism in general."

The Alexandria mayor had indicated he was seriously considering entering the race immediately after Congressman A. Leonard Allen announced last fall he would not be a candidate for re-election.

"Since I first mentioned that I might be a candidate I have received considerable encouragement and have had more favorable comment on the idea than I had anticipated from the beginning," he remarked. "Many people, both here in my home city of Alexandria and throughout Rapides parish and the other seven parishes in the Eighth Congressional District have expressed their willingness to support me." Close said he was "very grateful" for the independent support that has been and is still being offered him daily by citizens who are interested in better government.

"Now that the state election is over and it has been plainly proved that an independent candidate can still win an election in Louisiana, I am announcingn my candidacy," he said.

Close supported J. M. McLemore for governor during the first primary and Governor-Elect Robert F. Kennon during the runoff.

Elected to the legislature over 14 opponents in 1944, Close was appointed Mayor of Alexandria by Governor Jimmie Davis on April, 1947. He was elected mayor two years later, receiving 60 per cent of the vote in a four - man race.

He has served as president and vice - president of the Central Louisiana Mayors' Council, which he helped organize, and is at present executive vice - president of the Louisiana Municipal Association.

He is a deacon in the Emmanuel Baptist Church in Alexandria, former chairman of the deacon board and former general superintendent of the Sunday School. He is a Mason and a Shriner.

A resident of Alexandria for 29 years, he and Mrs. Close and their son, Carl Buell, Jr., a student in Bolton High School, live at 119 Cook avenue.

Close said he would continue serving as mayor during the campaign, and if elected to congress, will serve until time to take his seat in that body in January, 1953.

FINNS PUSHING U. S. FOR RUNNER-UP HONORS

AMERICANS GAIN HOCKEY FINALS AGAINST CANADA

Finland Nabs Two Firsts; Winter Games End Today

By Ted Smits

Oslo, Feb. 23. —(AP)— Hardy little Finland swept championships in the women's 10 - kilometer cross country and the men's 40 - kilometer relay ski races today and threatened to wrest runner - up honors from the United States in the sixth winter Olympics.

These snow and ice games end tomorrow with the dramatic ski jumping on famed Holmenkollen Hill and final hockey jousts on the Jordal Stadium rink. The Finns could sneak into second place in the unofficial team standings by outleaping the favored Norwegians in this big, climactic show, expected to draw 150,000.

Finland has assembled a formidable jumping team, headed by Tauno Luiro, a daring lad who celebrates his 20th birthday tomorrow. Luiro is credited with the longest ski jump on record — 456 feet in Oberstdorf, Germany, last year — but the championship is decided on form as well as distance.

The Norwegians have clinched the team crown with 107 points after 20 of the 22 events on the program.

The United States follows with 84½. However, Americans figure to pick up a few points in the hockey tournament, already conceded to Canada, and possibly a point or so in the ski jump if their national champion, Art Tokle of Brooklyn, is in razor - sharp form.

Finland scored an amazing 31 points today to leap from fifth to third place with 72. Her stout daughters finished 1-2-3 and also picked up a fifth place in the gruelling women's ski race.

Lydia Videman, a 28 - year - old typist who will retire soon to become a housewife, won the 6¼ mile grind over a heavily - wooded course in 41 minutes and 40 seconds. She had a decisive 59 seconds edge over teammate Mirja Hietamies, who had 42.39, with Siiri Rantanen third in 42.50.

The United States chose not to contest this championship. Marta Nordberg of Sweden was fourth in 42:53 and Sirkka Polkunen of Finland fifth in 43:07.

Shortly afterwards over the same course — a hilly route that winds around a wooded mountainside and ends at the foot of Holmenkollen Hill — Finland's tireless four - man team won the 40-kilometer (25 miles) relay in two hours, 20 minutes, 16 seconds.

The United States, out of the running from the very start, finished 12th in the field of 13 with a clocking of 2:53:28. Only the that Bulgaria's anchor man broke a ski and didn't finish prevented a complete U. S. rout.

When Finland's Tapio Makela, racing the anchor leg, sloogged across the finish line, his fellow countrymen threw him joyously in the air while ringing out the national anthem. Makela had the fastest leg, timed in 34 minutes, 6 seconds.

The Americans took their walloping in good spirits by meeting their weary anchor man, Wendell Broomhall of Rumford, Me., at the finish line and giving him the same treatment accorded the champion. They tossed him high in the air and laughed uproariously with the crowd joining in.

George Hovland of Duluth, Minn., first out for the Americans, was 13th after the opening lap and his mates could never close the gap. John Burton of Wayzata, Minn., skied second and Ted Farwell of Montague, Mass., third.

Finland, given a good start by former Olympic combined Champion Heikku Hasu, was never headed. Sweden and Norway staged a stirring neck - and - neck race for second, with Norway's Hallgeir Brenden, the Olympic 18-kilometer champion, clinching the runner - up spot with a fast final leg. Norway was timed in 2:23:11 and Sweden in 2:24:13. France was fourth in 2:31:11 and Austria fifth in 2:34:36.

More than 118,000 tickets already have been sold for the ski jump at Holmenkollen, about five miles from the heart of Oslo, but officials predicted the crowd may reach 150,600, including thousands of gate crashers.

Most Norwegians are picking 24-year - old Torbjoern Falkanger, their national champion last year, as the "man to beat," but there also is strong support for Arne Hoel, the 20 - year - old baby of the Norse squad who is known as the "Holmenkollen specialist," and Arnfinn Bergmann, the present national champion.

America's main hope, the 29 - year - old Tokle, is a Brooklyn carpenter who was born in Norway where children start ski jumping at the age of three. He has shown the best form in preliminary workouts.

Other U. S. entries are Keith Wegeman, 22 - year - old U. S. college champion from Denver, Colo. Ralph Bietila, a carpenter's aide from Ispeming, Mich., and Art Devlin, 29 - year - old veteran from Lake Placid, N. Y., who has won the U. S. crown four times.

The ice hockey tournament, marked by mild brawls and charges of "rowdyism" against North American players, reaches its climax tomorrow night when Canada and the United States clash in Jordal Stadium.

The Canadians, defending champions and only unbeaten team remaining, are heavy favorites but a real dogfight, marked by sharp body - checking which is foreign to Europeans, is anticipated.

Regardless of what happens in the ski jump and the hockey tournament, this is the best showing a United States team ever has made in the winter Olympics. In 1932 — during the depression — the games were held at Lake Placid, N. Y., and America won a hollow victory against a tiny field.

Star of the American forces has been Andrea Mead Lawrence, 19-year - old bride from Rutland, Vt., who won gold medals in the women's giant slalom and slalom races. Two other gold medals were won by Dick Button of Englewood, N. J., who won the men's figure skating to become the only repeating champion and Ken Henry of Chicago, victor in the 500 - meter speed skating.

Newhouser Asks 'No Trade' Clause Before Signing His Tiger Contract

Gehringer Says He Can't Promise To Keep Pitcher

Lakeland, Fla., Feb. 23.—(AP)— Lefty Hal Newhouser hasn't signed his 1952 pitching contract with the Detroit Tigers because he wants an agreement he will not be traded.

This was disclosed today by General Manager Charley Gehringer as Newhouser skipped the second spring training workout of Tiger pitchers and catchers.

Gehringer told newsmen:

"In the event he comes back and pitches well, he wants a pledge that he will not be traded. I told Hal it was impossible to make a promise like that. If he starts winning again and we think it would be advantageous to the club, we'll trade him.

"That goes not only for Newhouser, but every other player on the club."

Newhouser, who had a 6-6 record in a sore-armed 1951 season, worked out with the batterymen yesterday after talking with Gehringer, who gave him permission to do so.

But he didn't show today as the rest of the pitchers and catchers and outfielder Vic Wertz romped through two hours of work under cloudy skies in 70-degree temperatures.

Still Newhouser, onetime ace of the Tiger hurlers, insisted he was not a holdout, and Gehringer said he'd be greatly surprised if Hal didn't accept his explanation and sign.

The general manager said he thought it was a point of pride with Newhouser, that he wanted to finish his career with the Tigers.

"He has been in Detroit's organization continually since 1939," Gehringer pointed out, "and his 13 years in the majors have been spent with the Tigers. Hal's home and family are in Detroit and it is only natural that he'd like to stay. I understand his viewpoint, but still can't give him any guarantee."

Lefty Richard Littlefield, meanwhile, caught the eye of acting Manager Dick Bartell in today's workouts.

"This Littlefield can throw real hard," Bartell commented. "I imagine the kid just didn't have the experience to make either the Red Sox or White Sox and wound up with the St. Louis Browns. We're gambling that he's ready now, after two seasons in the minors. And, confidentially, I don't think it is much of a gamble."

Littlefield, a former Detroit sandlotter, was obtained in a seven player swap between the Browns and Tigers recently.

Alabama Cagers Trounce Auburn

Tuscaloosa, Ala., Feb. 23.—(AP)— Alabama tonight clinched a second place berth in Southeastern Conference regular season basketball standings by overcoming Auburn, 63-50.

The Tiger "swish kids" put up a sharp scrap for 22 minutes, but folded as the game neared its close before the more seasoned Tide quintet.

Vanderbilt already held second place with a 9-5 record. Tonight's win over its intra-state foe gave the Crimson an equal S.E.C. showing. L.S.U. won over Florida to make second place a three-way tie.

Alabama Center Paul Sullivan hit the basket for 19 points, enough to run his all-time Tide record for one season to 371 points.

Georgia Tech's Quintet Socks Georgia, 79 To 73

Atlanta, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Georgia stopped going under the basket after shots in the third quarter tonight and Georgia Tech used the lapse to sweep forward to a 79-73 basketball victory.

The game was an extra meeting between the two state schools and does not count in Southeastern Conference standings. Georgia defeated Tech, 72-66, in early February in a regular S.E.C. game.

Double-A Cage Crown Will Be Decided Friday

The championship of north Louisiana district Class AA basketball will be decided next Friday night when the Ouachita Parish High School Lions of Monroe, running second in the chase, meet the Byrd Yellow Jackets here, while the leading Fair Park Indians close out the slate against Bossier City.

Fair Park, defending champion with a 6-1 league record, can sew up the crown by beating the Bossier outfit.

Ouachita, runner-up so far with a 5-2 mark, could claim a co-championship by beating Byrd if Bossier is able to upset Fair Park.

Only first and second place teams in the district race will be qualified for the state tournament.

Coach Herbert Holliman's Lions defeated Byrd last Friday afternoon at Shreveport, 56 to 51.

MACK HAS GOOD SHOW OF BIRDS

Makes Ten Finds At National Field Trials

Grand Junction, Tenn., Feb. 23. —(AP)—Commander's Mack, a yellow-headed setter from Texas, roamed through the muddy fields near Grand Junction Saturday afternoon to score 10 finds—nine of them bevies—and led the afternoon course in the National Field Trials.

The 7-year-old setter, owned and handled by Carl Duffield of Tyler, Texas, picked up his first bevy in nine minutes and within the first hour had scored three bevies and a single bird. He found two more bevies in the next hour and four in the final period.

Mack was cast with Duchess Air Sammy, owned by Floyd Mier of Decatur, Ill., and handled by Lee Worstell of Decatur. Sammy hadhad his first find in less than an hour and when his handler failed to flush the single bird, the dog was sent on and stopped to flush as the bird left. He showed another single in the second hour and pointed once in the third hour, but no bird was seen.

A misty rain was at its peak when the morning brace started. Jhok, a pointer from the kennel of Marc F. Mitchell of Llano, Calif., and handled by Jack Harper, was cast with Sub Deb, owned by Jack Kennedy of St. Louis and handled by Jimmy Tuttle. Sub Deb flushed Old Faithful, a bevy that has been pointed nearly every morning at the 15-minute post. Then, however, she made a wide cast to a road where two men in a car, trying to be helpful, picked her up and returned her 45 minutes later to the handler. Jhok moved along for an hour and a half, was on game one time, and was finally picked up at Halfway Hill.

Quail on Ames plantation get a rest Sunday. Then the dogs start again Monday.

Bob Waterfield Pro Passing King

Philadelphia, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Bob Waterfield of the Los Angeles Rams nosed out teamate Norman Van Brocklin for the National Football League's passing championship last season, official league statistics disclosed today.

Waterfield wound up his seventh year of pro football by completing 88 of 176 passes for 1,566 yards and 13 touchdowns. Only 10 of Waterfield's aerials were intercepted. The former U. C. L. A. star won the passing title with an 8-9 average.

Van Brocklin, one-time Oregon ace, turned in an 8.8 average with 100 completions in 194 attempts for 1,725 yards and 13 touchdowns. Van Brocklin, who led all passers until the final game of the season, had a 51.5 per cent completion average to Waterfield's 50 per cent.

Otto Graham of the Cleveland Browns finished third. The Browns' ace completed 147 of 265 for 2,205 yards and 17 touchdowns. His completion was 55.5.

Wave Scores Its Most Points Beating Gators

New Orleans, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Tulane ran up its highest score on record last night when it drubbed Florida 102-77 in a Southeastern basketball game which averaged almost a foul a minute.

In the 60 minutes of action, 55 fouls were called and four players were ejected from the game on fouls. Tulane was charged with 32 fouls and lost three men. Florida was called on 23 fouls with one man forced out.

Southern Claims Gulf Cage Title

Hattiesburg, Miss., Feb. 23.—(AP) —Mississippi Southern wrapped up its second Gulf States Conference basketball championship in three years here tonight by whipping Spring Hill 76-56.

It was the Southerners' final conference game of the year and gave them a record of 13 victories and three losses.

Southern took the lead in the opening minutes and was never in trouble.

Sparking the attack were Forwards Tom Bishop with 25 points and Nick Revon with 17.

Jules Mugnier led Spring Hill with 18 points.

Southern held a 39-24 lead at intermission and extended it early in the third quarter. Reserves played most of the remaining time.

M'DONALD JOINS SEROIS AGAINST BASHARA, LUBICH

Colorful Battlers Promise Good Program Here

Ellis Bashara and "Bronco" Lubich vs. Jack "Sockeye" McDonald and "Buff" Serois is the way Gus Kallio's card reads for Tuesday night's main event tag wrestling match at his Walnut street arena.

Bashara, Lubich, and McDonald have been frequent visitors at Kallio's arena since the Christmas holidays and Serois, who has not wrestled here lately, is well known to Monroe fans, also.

Serois, of Buffalo, N. Y., made his last appearance in Monroe in July of 1951 wrestling Jack Curtis in the main event. Serois lost the bout to Curtis, although he had boasted that he would take "Monroe's fair-haired boy" (the quotes are Serois') without any trouble.

However, he gave Curtis a hard fight in that bout and was the man who took ex-champion Curtis' light heavyweight title away from him some months before then on the east coast. The final bout here between the two matmen came too late to do either of them any good in a championship way, since Henry Harrell, another well - known tussler who has not been here in some months, had captured the title from Serois shortly before the bout was scheduled.

Serois is a tough villainous tussler who makes it his business to win in any way that he can, a fit partner for "Champion" McDonald, who has the undying enmity of almost every fan in Monroe after his last few matches here showed his style of wrestling.

McDonald, who holds the world's light heavyweight mat title, has beaten some of the top matmen in this part of the country, using a combination of good luck and bad acting to make it possible.

McDonald and Serois will take on a couple of tough boys in Tuesday night's match, and will probably have to make use of a little more luck than bad acting to take the bout. Bashara, the roly poly "Sooner" from Norman, Okla., especially is no one to play around with, since he knows a few "dirty" tricks himself as has been evidenced by a few of his encounters here.

Bashara came within a hair's breadth of whipping McDonanld here about two weeks ago, and had McDonald almost ready to go down for the count in the third and deciding fall of the match. Bashara, however, almost literally, lost his head a few seconds later when he came careening off the ropes at cannon-ball speed to administer the coup-de-grace and plunged headlong into a ring post. That settled the match, as it was some minutes before the round tussler could regain his senses.

"Bronco" Lubich, who hails from Tampa, Fla., is perhaps the most inexperienced wrestler on the program and also the cleanest. Lubich, since he has been wrestling here, has been the victim of some of the foulest tricks the oldtimers could pull on him, but he has yet to lose his temper enough to make much of a fight of it.

The main event will have a 90-minute time limit with two falls to win, and there will be two short time-limit semi-finals between opponents from the different tag teams.

Plenty of space will be available at the match this Tuesday, according to Kallio, who said that a whole section of seats had been reserved for colored fans and that his new seating arrangement could accommodate more people and with a better view than any previous arrangement that he has had.

EGGS TRANSPLANTED

Berkeley, Calif., —(AP)— Fertile eggs were transplanted from one rat to another in an experiment by a doctoral candidate at the University of California.

Donald W. Bailey said the rat bore healthy, thriving offspring. This was the first known successful egg transplant on rats, he said. The experiment was part of a study on the influence of mothers on the growth of the young.

inside BASEBALL TRAINING CAMPS

YANKEES

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 23.—(AP)—First Baseman Joe Collins arrived today, lifting the complement of New York Yankee players in training to 14. The slender first baseman has been given permission to work out with the batterymen under the direction of Coach Jim Turner, pending the arrival of the other infielders and outfielders March 1.

Today's activity was confined to routine fielding drills. Catchers Yogi Berra, Ralph Houk and Charley Silvera took batting practice after the hurlers finished.

DODGERS

Vero Beach, Fla., Feb. 23.—(AP)— Joe Black, pitching sensation of the Havana Winter League, made his debut in a Brooklyn uniform today and almost immediately the camp started buzzing about a "new Don Newcombe."

Black, Plainfield, N. J., Negro who won 15 and lost six pitching in 29 games of Havana's 72-game league season, also made a deep impression on Manager Charlie Dressen. He is currently under a Montreal contract.

Black won seven and lost nine at Montreal and had a 4-3 record at St. Paul in his first year in organized ball last season. With the latter club his E. R. A. was 2.25.

GIANTS

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 23. —(AP)— Two rookies — First Baseman Tookie Gilbert and Catcher Ray Katt—were the latest arrivals in the camp of the New York Giants today, bringing the number of players here to 22.

Katt batted .308 for Minneapolis in the American Association last year. He is 24 years old and packs 200 pounds into a 6-foot 2-inch frame. It is his first appearance in a Giant uniform.

Gilbert, who has been up with the Giants before, led the American Association in home runs with 29 after being shipped to Minneapolis last year. He batted .273 and drove in an even 100 runs.

BROWNS

Burbank, Calif., Feb. 23. —(AP)— Rookie Catcher Clint Courtney arrived at spring training camp with his signed contract today, the 37th member of the St. Louis Browns to come to terms.

Courtney, 25, was with Kansas City and the New York Yankees last year. He hit .294 with Kansas City of the American Association.

RED SOX

Sarasto, Fla. Feb. 23.—(AP)—Manager Lou Boudreau eased up on his Boston Red Sox battery candidates today having them concentrate on making the pickoff throw to second base. But he warned that he would resume his three-hour practice schedue next week.

Boudreau, who has made a thorough study of the Red Sox' failures since its last pennant-winning team in 1946, blames them on weak early season pitching.

"As far as I can make out," Boudreau explained, "improved pitching rather than increased hitting has been responsible for the Red Sox' late-season surges.

"That means only one thing to me. We need better spring pitching and I have high hopes we will have it for the coming season."

BRAVES

Bradenton, Fla., Feb. 23. —(AP)— With Manager Tommy Holmes shouting suggestions from behind the batting cage, all of the Boston Braves' rookie prospects were given lengthy hitting sessions during today's long workout.

It was somewhat of a battle of wits, for pitching Coach Bucky Walters was helping out the flingers. Later Billy Jurges, the former Giants and Cubs shortstop, worked with the infielders.

Jurges, engaged only for the spring training season, spent much of his time grooming the highly promising double play combination of Jack Cusick, shortstop obtained from the Cubs, and Bill Reed, a second baseman up from the Milwaukee farm club.

Negro Is Signed By Dallas Club

Dallas, Feb. 23. —(AP)— A Negro has been signed to a Texas League contract for the first time in the history of the 64-year-old baseball circuit.

He is Ray Neil, 26-year-old second baseman, whose signing of a Dallas Eagles contract was announced today by Owner R. W. (Dick) Burnett.

Neil hit .346 for the Indianapolis Clowns of the Negro American League last season and led the league in runs scored with 77 and in base hits with 119.

Burnett said Neil's contract is a "conditional deal," contingent upon the player's ability to "make the grade" in the Texas League. He added that Neil indicated, in a telephone conversation, that he is "anxious and willing." Neil played in 87 games and last season collected 14 doubles, four triples and three home runs. He stole 14 bases and had 62 runs batted in. His fielding record of .963, with 52 double plays was rated high in the final league averages.

He will report with the Eagles at their spring training base at Daytona Beach, Fla.

JOINS BUC SYSTEM

Pittsburgh, Feb. 23. —(AP)— Denver, Colo., of the Class A Western Baseball League, joined the list of Pittsburgh Pirate affiliates today. This makes a total of 15 minor league clubs in the Pirate chain.

HEAVILY BACKED SPARTAN VALOR TAKES WIDENER

Greek Ship Runs Two And Half Lengths Back In 2nd

Miami, Fla., Feb. 23. —(AP)— Spartan Valor and Jimmy Stout, a terrific New Jersey team, broke in front and easily fought off every challenge today to capture Hialeah's $50,000 - added Widener Handicap, Florida's richest run for thoroughbreds.

Just like he did in the recent $25,000 McLennan, Spartan Valor, the sleek, dark pride of the New Jersey farm of William G. Helis, Jr., shot into the lead from the starting gate and ran all the way with daylight between him and his nearest competitor.

He flashed across the finish line a comfortable two and one - half lengths in front of Greek Ship, the Brookmeade stable's mighty mouse. Pilaster, the Maryland marathon star, was third, another three - quarters of a length back.

As the crowd of 28,383, the biggest of the season, had expected, Spartan Valor thus became the sixth racer to win Florida's "Golden Double," the McLennan and the Widener. The audience, which wagered $333,879, a Florida record for a single race, had made him an overwhelming 4-5 favorite.

Jimmy Stout, also a Jerseyite, was fighting to overcome a long-standing Widener jinx as he guided Spartan Valor home in the fast time of 2:03 1-5, one and one-fifth seconds slower than the track record for the mile and a quarter set by El Mono in 1948. In eight previous tries, Stout never had a winner.

Spartan Valor's host of backers collected $3.70, $3.20 and $2.70. Greek Ship, who hauled the top weight of 122 pounds, gave his followers a reward of $7.10 and $5.10. Pilaster paid $6.20 in show money.

Oil Capitol, the 1950 Flamingo winner, was fourth in a strong finish. Strung out after Oil Capitol, in order, were Saxony, Abbe Sting, Mass O'Gold, Alerted, Yildiz, Call Over, Combat Boots, Seaward and Three Rings.

BURKE RACES TOWARD HOUSTON OPEN CASH

GRABS 5-STROKE EDGE WITH THIRD BELOW-PAR TRIP

'Porky' Oliver Running Second With 210 Total

By Wilbur Martin

Houston, Tex., Feb. 23.—(AP)—Little Jack Burke made miserable Memorial Park course shine like the pot of gold even the old pros concede is his in the Houston Open Tournament, firing his third subpar round today to fashion a five stroke lead with a 54-hole score of 205.

He turned in a 69 today to go with his 36-hole total of 69-67 and that put him 11 under for the par 72, 7,100-yard course.

Ed (Porky) Oliver, moaning about the water that made fairways lanes of mush through dripping pine trees, came in at par for a total of 210.

Rain fell all day and it was almost dark when Burke and his partner, Frank Stranahan, Toledo, O., finished.

Stranahan, British Amateur champion who yesterday turned a six under par 66, soared to a 73 today for a total of 212. That made him top amateur but left him tied with John Barnum, Grand Rapids, Mich., the only other player to better 70 today, at third. Barnum turned in a 69.

"Burke's got this in his hip pocket," Barnum commented as he turned in his round, four twosomes ahead of the curly-haired son of the former professional at the Houston Country Club.

That was just after Burke, who won the Texas Open last week at San Antonio, had eagled the par 5, 488-yard No. 13 hole with a 12-foot putt.

Only five broke par today and just four tied in the gloomy rainy weather.

Bunched at 214 were Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, Fred Haas, Jr., New Orleans, and Earl Stewart, Jr., the first round leader. Haas and Middlecoff broke par by two strokes, but Stewart went two over.

Jerry Barber, Pasadena, Calif., who shared the top spot after the first round, came next with a 216, he had 74 today.

The back nine was "Waterloo" for Tommy Bolt and Middlecoff. Bolt made the turn at 33, three under par, while the former National Open champion was four under through nine with a 32.

Oliver and others said the last nine holes were "a lot worse" than the front nine as far as water was concerned. Barnum said there was plenty of "casual" water on the course. He took a six on the 12th hole when his ball splashed in water and he dug mud trying to get it out.

Burke, the hometown boy who is the popular favorite, had most of the estimated 2,500 persons who braved the rain his gallery.

List Of Items For Sportmen's Big Auction Here Tuesday Night Grows

Merchants Contribute To Success Of Unit's Sale

The importance of the sportsmen's auction here Tuesday night continued to grow yesterday as more Twin City merchants and individuals added contributions to th already more than $2,000 worth of merchandise to be auctioned off by Ike Hamilton, West Monroe auctioneer, at the Missouri Pacific Booster Hall, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

J. B. Thoman, president of the Ouachita unit of the Louisiana Wildlife Federation, last night announced a list of additional contributions, but also outlined other matters that will be put before the sportsment at the meeting.

Approval of Ouachita unit members will be asked for a proposed gar rodeo, reports on completion of the fish screen at Bayou DeSiard's outlet into Hog bayou, the distribution of bi - colored lespedeza plants for quail food, and a report on recent commercial fishing Bayou DeSiard are expected to be made. Two motion pictures on fishing will be shown at the conclusion of the night's program.

Thoman last night said the Bayou DeSiard screen project was completed in four days at a cost of $348.15. He estimated that durcommercial fishing in the same stream that 50,000 pounds of coarse fish and 6,000 pounds of turtle had been removed. He said 8,000 lespedeza plants had been distributed, and 5,000 blue gill perch have been placed in lakes at Bernstein Park where children 14 years old and under will be permitted to fish for them.

Only the past week Major Brown, director of the state department of fish and wildlife, sent his water hyacinths control expert, Mr. Edwards, of Lafayette, here for an inspection tour of Bayou DeSiard, Black Bayou, and Bayou Bartholomew with Dr. Bill Smith, chairman of the hyacinths control committee of the local unit. It was reported a state crew will be sent here within the next three weeks to complete removal of the hyacinths from the streams.

In the meantime, sportsmen are also backing a project of Haddad Hardware and Sporting Goods store which is offering awards for the largest bass caught between March 1 and November 1 with rod and reel of still fishing. Haddad is giving a $75 camp tent as first prize; a two - burner camp stove as second prize, and a casting reel as the No. 3 award. All fish must be weighed and registered at Haddad's.

The committee handling the collection of contributions for the auction, including A. S. "Bud" Tidwell, Harry Wood, I. W. Rogers, J. C. Lolley, Glen Walker, T. J. Langley, "Shorty" Garlock, and Bury DeLancy, yesterday turned in another long list of donations as follows:

The weekly newspaper, El Europeo of Milan, said that recent studies showed at least 130,000 Italians live in cellars and grottos in cities. Another two million "cavemen" are scattered throughout country areas.

BILLIKENS POINT FOR DUAL SLAM

St. Louis To Play In N. I. T. And National Invitation

New York, Feb. 23. —(AP)— The St. Louis University Billikens will shoot for a basketball "double slam" next month by playing in both the National Invitation and N. C. A. A. tournaments.

Already qualified for the N. C. A. A. as Missouri Valley Conference champions, the Billikens accepted a bid today for the N. I. T. which opens at Madison Square Garden March 8. The N. C. A. A. playoffs begin March 21.

They became the seventh team picked for the 12-team field. Already chosen are St. John's of Brooklyn, Holy Cross, St. Bonaventure, Duquesne, Dayton and Seton Hall.

Only one team has ever achieved the so-called "double slam." That was City College of New York, which won the two big tournaments in 1950 and then saw its Cinderella squad shattered by last year's game-fixing scandal.

St. Louis, possessors of a 19-5 record and ninth-ranked in the latest Associated Press poll, also is reigning Sugar Bowl champion, having beaten top-rated Kentucky, 61-60, in the dramatic finals at New Orleans.

Coached by Ed Hickey, wily little master of pattern and precision basketball, the Billikens have an impressive N. I. T. record. They won the championship in 1948, beating New York University 65-52, and gained the quarter-finals in 1949 and 1950.

CLAIMS $92,900 TOP MONEY WITH GOOD 4 LENGTHS

Arroz Comes Home Third In $140,000 Turf Event

Arcadia, Calif., Feb. 23. —(AP)— Kentucky's Hill Gail knocked the wind out of the Windy City II boom today, whipping the Irish colt by four lengths for a smashing victory in the rich Santa Anita Derby.

Scoring a revenge triumph for the lacings he took in two previous clashes at Santa Anita Park, the Calumet Farm's dark brown bay son of Bull Lea drew down the handsome purse of $92,900 out of a pot of $140,000.

Running back to the form he showed os one of the nation's outstanding juveniles last year, Hill Gail, with Jockey Ted Atkinson aboard, ran Windy City II into the ground as they entered the stretch and pounded on down to the wire.

California - bred Arroz, a field horse, finished third in the field of 14 colts.

The time for the mile and one-eighth fixture was 1:50 flat.

Hill Gail, second choice in the betting by the crowd of 50,000, rewarded his backers with a payoff of $11.40, $3.90 and $3.90; Windy City II $2.70 and $2.70; Arroz, $11.20.

As expected, the derby soon developed into a battle between Hill Gail and the Irish whirlwind, racing for Mrs. Gus Luellwitz of Los Angeles.

The Windy colt from abroad offer no excuses. Jockey Eddie Arcaro got him off in speedy fashion from his No. 4 post position. He was second to the quick-breaking Haltafire, soon got to the rail and on top of the field.

The King Ranch's Marcador closed in fast behind Windy City, and Hill Gail hung back briefly about fourth or fifth. Soon he began to move up, and in the struggle down the back stretch, it was Windy City in front by a length, then three-quarters, and at the far turn the lead had dwindled to a head.

Heading toward the stretch Atkinson got the Kentucky colt out in front, and gathering momentum, began to draw away. It was no contest in the final furlong; merely a matter of how far the Gail would outdistance the fading Wind.

The victory, sixth in 11 starts for Hill Gail, sent the colt's all-time earnings to $190,600.

Nichols Motors Runs Wild To Score 108 To 62 Win Over Magnolia Quint

Bob Meador, Ex-L. S. U. Ace, Leads Locals With 25

By Paul Jasper

Nichols Motors of Monroe downed the Magnolia Millers of Magnolia, Ark., 108 to 62, in a high - scoring game between two top independent basketball teams here last night.

The Motormen, despite the Magnolia coach's pre - game boast of "we think we can beat any team in your section of the country," took a fast lead in the game and outscored the Millers in every quarter.

Dewett Dopson, Magnolia's six-foot - six center, however, lead the scoring in the game with a total of 31 points, 14 field goals and three extra points. The Strong, Ark. dribbler played both a fine offensive and defensive game, and committed only one foul although he was on the floor throughout the whole of the ball game.

Leading the scoring for the Motormen was Bob Meador, guard, who hooped 25 points for his team. Lennie Fant was next in line for Nichols with 18 points, while Robert Bennett scored 16 and Charlie McCullin, Bob Carter, and Gene Hardin took 13 each.

The Nichols team hooped the first basket of the game and were leading 24 to nine at the end of the first quarter. At halftime they had headed the Millers, 53 to 28, and scored 29 points to the Millers 12 in the next quarter. Nichols was still scoring strongly in the last quarter of the game, and as it neared a close the fans were cheering for the 100 mark to be reached. Bob Carter dropped in two foul shots to make the scoreboard start over, and the game ended a few minutes later with Magnolia 46 points behind.

The Millers, who have a won-lost record of 35 to three after tonight's defeat, were playing without the presence of Charles George, a six - foot - six forward, who has been one of Magnolia's top threats in previous games. Playing with George on the team, the Millers have an average team height of six - foot - three.

L. S. U.'S PETTIT, DEAN ON ALL-S. E. C. TEAM

KENTUCKY LANDS THREE OTHER 1ST TEAM POSITIONS

Bengal Sophomore Leads Poll To Claim Captaincy

By Sterling Slappey

Atlanta, Feb. 23. —(AP)— The closest approach to a homegrown All - Southeastern Conference basketball team was named today by coaches, sports writers and announcers for the Associated Press.

Three players on the conference championship Kentucky team and two from Louisiana State University man the fourth annual All - S. E. C. first string.

Only one player on the first team and only three on the 10 - player all - star squad were imported to Dixie schools for their basketball ability.

All other players are local boys.

The usual ratio is about two imported stars to every one homegrown player.

A sophomore — Bob Pettit of L. S. U. — received 55 votes out of a possible 59 for top man in balloting. He wins the captaincy of the team on the strength of the largest number of votes.

Kentucky's Cliff Hagan, top scorer of all - time in the S. E. C., was second with 52 votes.

Frank Ramsey, another Kentuckian, was third with 45 votes; Joe Dean of L. S. U., the only non - southerner on the first team, was fourth with 37. Kentucky's Bobby Watson was fifth with 26.

Dean's home is New Albany, Ind. Pettit plays before home crowds in Baton Rouge, La. Hagan and Watson are from Owensboro, Ky., and Ramsey is from Madisonville, Ky.

While Hagan's development into one of the top stars of Southeastern basketball was expected, Pettit's development this season was a surprise. His coach is Harry Rabenhorst.

Before the season L. S. U. athletic publicity had this to say about the six - foot nine-inch sophomore: ". . .in time he may develop into the best pivotman in Dixie."

Pettit has been the Southeastern's best pivotman in nearly every game and only against Vanderbilt has he been held to less than 16 points. He scored 10 in the Commodore game.

Throughout most of the season Pettit maintained a 25 point per average game to rank in the top three scorers nationally.

Hagan was first man to crack the Southeastern season scoring record. Alex Groza's mark of 508 fell to Hagan more than a week ago.

Only repeaters on the first team were Ramsey and Watson. Dave Kardokus of Vandy, first stringer in 1951, fell to the second team.

Dean and Watson are seniors, Hagan and Ramsey, junior and Pettit is a sophomore.

The All-Southeastern squad:

FIRST TEAM

Player, College	Ht.	Wt.	Age	Class	Hometown

DONKEY CAGERS HERE THIS WEEK

Play At Northeast Gym Tuesday And Wednesday

Donkey basketball comes back to Monroe Tuesday and Wednesday night when Jack Moxley's trained donkeys move in to help with the games under the sponsorship of the Civitan Club, Future Business Leaders Association of America, and upper - class girls of Ouachita Parish High High School. The games will be played at Northeast Louisiana State gymnasium.

The Ouachita girls won't be risking their necks astride the balky burros, but faculty men of O. P. H. S. have formed a fighting team that will do its level best to win against the Civitans.

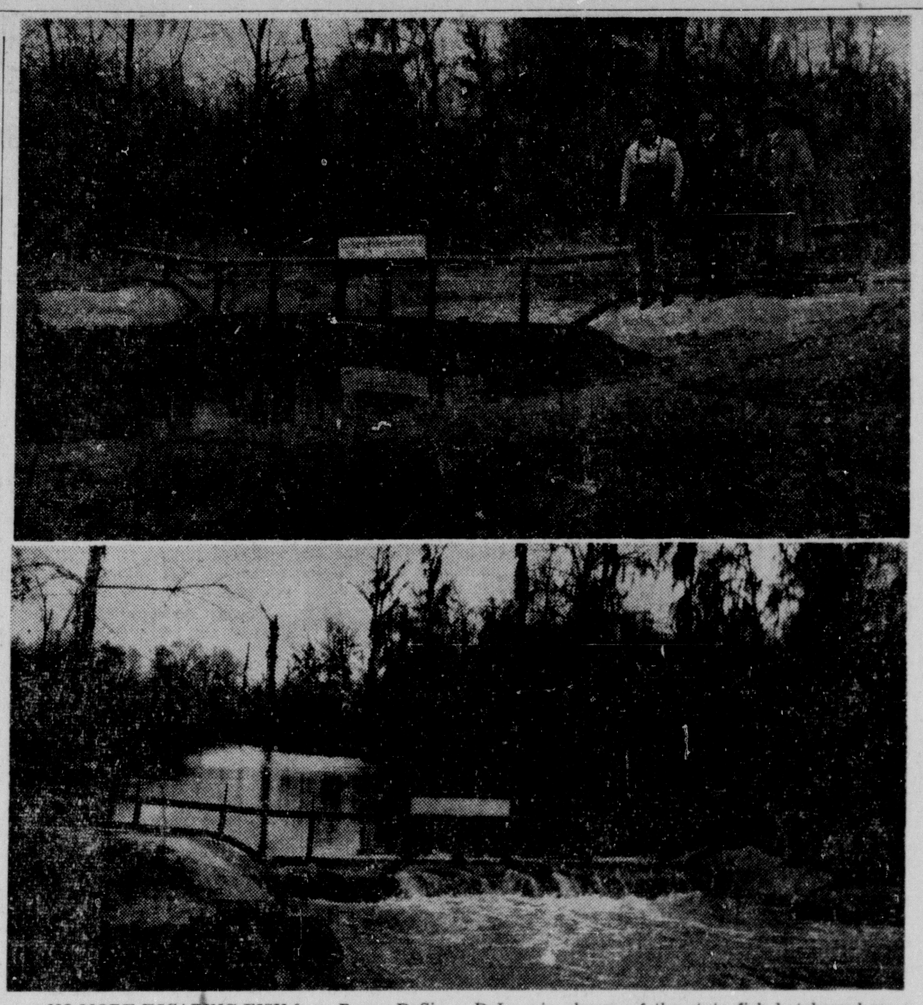

The faculty men are led by Deryl Norris as captain; Other members are: Lake Oxford, T. L. Crosby, Fred Patrick, Donald Logan, James C. Johnson, Richard Cryar and Lanier Thompson.

Civitan men who will do their level best to defeat these men from the high school faculty are: Bill Parks, captain: Paul Stewart, Lewis Gannaway, J. E. Peters, Conrad Lee, Lea Thompson, John Birdsong and Eddie Rowan.

The fun will start promptly at 7:30 each night and the gymnasium will echo and re -echo with laughs, screams, and spills—some of them as fast as a venturesome rider essays to land on mule back.

The public, from safe distance in the grand stand and galleries, will enjoy the fun and it can be said in advance that there will be some mighty sore bodies of the men who dare to test their skill against these well-hardened donkeys.

The money netted will be divided between the two sponsors and the young women will use theirs toward defraying expenses of a trip to a national convention of their organization.

Grid Loop Denies Interstate Trade

Philadelphia, Feb. 23.—(AP)—The National Football League today claimed it is not engaged in interstate commerce or trade as defined in the Sherman anti-trust act and therefore is not violating the act by restricting radio broadcasts and telecasts of its games.

The league, in answer to government charges that the law is being violated, said that its principal business is staging football games. Anything else, such as TV or broadcasts, is incidental, the answer filed in U. S. district court here today stated.

The government filed its charge last fall, accusing the league of "blacking out" telecasts of local games. The league petitioned the court to throw the case out, but Judge Allen Grim, after hearing argument on January 8, ordered a full trial of the case. He gave the league 45 days to reply to the government charge.

Judge Grim expressed hope that the case could be heard without undue delay because of its importance. The government has indicated that if it wins this test case it will bring charges to end TV and radio broadcast restrictions in other sports, including college football.

Goodloe, Fischer Play For Crown

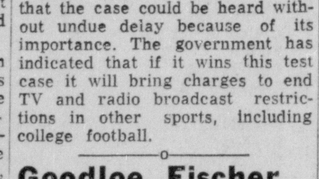

St. Augustine, Fla., Feb. 23. —(AP)—Bill (Dynamite) Goodloe, Valdosta, Ga., made quick work of his 36 - hole semi - final match in the National Championship of Golf Club Champions here today, collecting an 8-up lead on the first 18 and winning 11 and 10.

Sunday, Goodloe will play for the championship against George E. Fisher, University of Florida's No. 2 golfer who today eliminated Charles Bennett, St. Augustine attorney, 1 - up.

Goodloe's opponent today was Herman J. Chilton, Wellesley, Mass.

Chilton, who earlier upset tournament favorite Harvey Ward, Atlanta, found Goodloe's steady golf, an all - day rain and a soaked course too much to cope with.

Fischer had to travel the entire 36 - holes to eliminate Bennett, former member of the Notre Dame golf team, who lost a 3-up lead gained on the first 18 holes.

MONROE is Louisiana's 2nd finest marketing center

Monroe is Louisiana's 2nd finest marketing center, reveals Sales Management's 1951 Quality of Market Index which measures the purchasing ability of cities in the nation. Monroe is rated 31% better than the average American city. For every dollar you sell nationally, you should sell $1.31 in Monroe!

Reasons? There are many. One of the chief reasons for Monroe's year-round prosperity is natural gas. The largest gas field in the entire world is located here employing thousands of wage earners and covering a circumference of 79 square miles. This gas field furnishes approximately ⅔ of the U. S. with natural gas.

Oil is another lucrative industry adding thousands of dollars the year 'round to Monroe's sales volume and growing incomes. This trade center is located between two of the state's largest oil fields. But Monroe is not dependent upon gas and oil alone. Industry is well-balanced and diversified and includes paper mills, bag manufacture, lumber, railroad shops, furniture, foundries and machine works and bottling plants for all the principal soft drink manufacturers, among others. In addition, cotton, corn, grains, vegetables, pecans and fruit provide high annual sources of income.

Last year's retail sales per family substantiate the statement that Monroe is 31% above average. The average Monroe family spent $5,644 in the city's numerous retail stores. This outstanding sum is $2,467 higher or 77.7% more than the U. S. family average of $3.177!

Monroe is the hub of a trading zone comprised of 250,697 people who last year spent $166,499,000 in retail sales – surpassing this area's previous all-time high by more than $10 MILLION! Food sales registered a gain of over $3 million and totaled $30,915,000. General merchandise sales topped $22,422,000, while automobile sales rose to $51,475,000! Monroe area druggists rang up $4,339,000 in sales last year. As a result of prosperous industry and agriculture, buying power also hit an all-time high with $204,255,000 of spendable income in the rich Monroe Market.

The MONROE NEWS-STAR and WORLD offer complete and exclusive coverage of this wealthy 9-parish-trade region.

MONROE, Louisiana . . . . second finest marketing center in the state and also wealthy wholesale distributing center of Northeastern Louisiana. Monroe and West Monroe (just across the river) comprise a double-barreled marketing unit loaded with high-powered buying incomes per capita.

this honor: Anna Marie Danna, Phyllis Jo Nastasi and Evy Lee Ritter. The deepest secrecy enshrouds the selection for this high honor. Burton's orchestra has been engaged for the ball and there will be an extensive and active court to surround the queen who will have a king as counterpart and princesses and dukes as well as ladies in waiting, pages and hostesses.

All attending will have a highly enjoyable evening and one to go down in school history as something to be long remembered.

Girl Scouts, at the annual country club celebration, made presentation, through Camp Chairman Mrs. William Roy, to all who had given outstanding aid to the cause in the past year.

The certificates, framed in hand-tooled leather folders, were awarded to Lawrence B. Pettit, Raymond Masling, E. J. Sackett and R. M. Kettenring, president of the Lions Club. Their efforts made possible the erection of the camp near Sterlington.

Miss Annis Klie, executive director, introduced girls from various groups who told of the progress made the past year. These were: Gerrie Dickerson, Nancy Breard, Carey Sue Turner, Nancy Clare Noland, Noel Standley, Polly Riser and Cneryl Fink.

Rev. David A. Jones, rector of Grace Episcopal Church, will preach his last sermon here Sunday and will at once assume the rectorship of St. Luke's Church in Denison, Tex.

Reverend Jones resigned to take effect March 1, 1952 and originally planned to resume duties formerly held as a naval chaplain. However, he was rejected as over age, and now will accept the Texas pastorate.

The Sunday services which preceed Lent will be a parish-wide corporation communion. This communion will be held at 7:30 and 11 a. m. There will also be two services on Ash Wednesday, the first day of Lent, at 7 and 9:30 a. m.

A successor to the Reverend Jones has not been chosen yet and the church has invited guest preachers for the Lenten season.

While Monroe pastor only a short time, his friends here, of whom there are many, will regret his leaving.

REDS CLAIM

by your side.

"It belies your claim at this conference table about the good treatment received by our personnel in your custody. It further proclaims. . .throughout the world the utter bankruptcy of your absurd principle of so - called voluntary repatriation."

Col. George W. Hickman replied that the protest was noted and would be delivered to his superiors.

Tsai also used the incident to demand again an accounting for 44,000 prisoners captured by the Allies and reclassified as civilians. Hickman agreed to an accounting if the Communists would give information on 50,000 Koreans prisoners whom the Reds say they turned loose long ago. Hickman said the Communists evaded an answer and then asked for a recess.

In an adjoining tent, staff officers working on truce supervision remained deadlocked on the Communist nomination of Russia as one of six nations to provide neutral truce inspection teams.

The Communists did accept, however, the United Nations Command compromise for the rotation of 35,000 troops monthly during an armistice. The Allies at one time demanded twice the number.

The Communists still balked, however, at the Allied minimum of six ports on each side through which troops would be supplied. They also rejected an Allied plan to write six ports into an agreement and give the armistice commission authority to change the number.

The Communists insisted their "fair and reasonable proposal" of five ports was the "only way to resolve the issue."

On the question of Russia, the U. N. officers suggested the Communists nominate another country or draw all their inspectors from the two nominated countries the Allies have accepted — Poland and Czechoslovakia.

REDUCTION IN

ing the defense department for an explanation.

House Minority Leader Martin (R.-Mass.) labeled the cut "small potatoes" and said if the administration is looking for economy it can "find a need for it in plenty of places other than in MacArthur's retinue."

Representative Shafer (R.-Mich.), of the armed services committee, agreed and added some statistics:

"They had 1,140 officers of general or flag rank in the armed services last October to watch over two and a half million men. And that's more high ranking officers than we had during World War II when there were 12 million men in service."

Representative Spence (D.-Ky.) said, "It seems to me three ought to be enough." Representative Brooks (D.-La.) said MacArthur "should have what he needs."

Representative Smith (R.-Wis.) told reporters he has asked Pace to give him information on the size of Marshall's personal staff to see if there is discrimination. If not, then he said the cut is "probably justified."

LARGE PEACETIME

where, when and how to pay for the vast network of air fields, fighter bases, barracks, and communications that will support their armies, ranging all the way from the Bosporus to the Arctic.

They also must reorganize NATO itself into a more efficient operating body.

These problems come up Monday. The ministers take a day off tomorrow, the eve of Lisbon's Mardi Gras. Most of them are expected to spend the day in backstage conferences so they can reach swift agreement on the closing day.

Informed officials reported the United States has decided to press in the interval for the removal of practically all the wraps remaining on west German war industries. There is opposition from the French and, to a lesser extent, from the British.

From Bonn came word that the occupation powers are sending to Lisbon a request from Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government for a slight reduction in the proposed 11¼ billion mark ($2,670,000,000) defense budget for west Germany. The figure, proposed by Harriman's group, was termed "politically unacceptable." The Germans previously had offered 10,800,000,000 marks ($2,570,000,000).

The master plan is the result of months of compromise and argument between civil and military leaders of the alliance.

The generals told NATO what they had to have to make Europe safe from Communist aggression. The NATO economists went over the books of each nation and told the generals they could have much less.

The ministers yielded at the last minute and wrote in one clause requested by the military men. This named the specific force requirements for 1952, leaving in a more vague phrasing the targets for 1953 and 1954.

The report deals only with the men, money and machines to be provided by the original twelve NATO nations—the United States, Canada, Iceland, Britain, Norway, Denmark, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, France, Italy and Portugal.

Greece and Turkey, attending their first council session as new members, are to add their contributions after a NATO committee such as the TCC makes a study of their capabilities, the ministers decided.

CONSTRUCTION

there had been considerable talk about the halt in construction and for this reason, President Trousdale said he felt it was better to have the board's decision on the matter.

Superintendent Ward presented the board with tentative plans for undertaking a program with Northeast Louisiana State College in which senior students in education would work with qualified parish teachers in the school rooms.

It was pointed out that approximately 28 parish teachers were qualified to undertake this supervision, and that they would work three hours daily with the prospective teachers, receiving $50 extra in pay.

The question was raised as to whether or not this would interfere with the students classwork, and it was pointed out that the regular teacher would be present at all times.

The student teachers would observe classwork procedure for nine weeks and would then instruct for nine weeks.

The board passed a resolution authorizing Superintendent Ward to go ahead with the program with the understanding that it could be discarded at any time if it was not satisfactory.

A letter was read by Superintendent Ward in regards to the Louisiana School Boards' Association convention to be held in New Orleans March 3-4, in which all members were urged to remain through the Tuesday session as the outstanding speaker, president of the University of Houston would appear at that time, in a talk on "Education for All."

It was also pointed out that a tour of the Vieux Carre for the women attending the convention, would be conducted Monday morning at 10 a. m.

SCOUT EXECUTIVE TO GIVE SPEECH

..... BH

A. C. Lea of the Ouachita Valley Scout Council will speak Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at the Sherrouse School. The meeting, which is under auspices of the Sherrouse Parent Teacher Association, is open to all persons interested in Scouting.

The need of adult leadership in this phase of Scouting is being stressed. A large number of boys have expressed the desire to participate in this activity but they are limited because of lack of leaders.

Lea, who is cub commissioner for the central district of the Ouachita Valley Council, is urging all boys and parents who are eager for an expansion of cub units to attend Tuesday's meeting. He plans to discuss advantages and possibilities of Scouting and answer questions which members of the group would like to have clarified.

An added feature of the program will be a skit dramatizing the fun and value which Scouting can give. It will be presented by Den I, comprising fourth grade boys, under sponsorship of Mrs. J. W. Parkerson.

All boys between the ages of 8 and 11 are eligible to take part in Cub Scout work.

The Sherrouse PTA has sponsored Scouting for several years because its program of study and action is designed to develop young persons both physically and spiritually, leaders explain. The PTA also has worked consistently with Brownies.

Enough enthusiasm in Cub Scouting has been shown to justify the formation of two dens in each grade, PTA officers say. Mrs. Henry Long and Mrs. Parkerson are den mothers, and Mrs. L. L. Price and Mrs. Austin Wilson are planning to hold similar places in Scouting.

The Sherrouse area needs a cub master and other leaders to carry out an effective program which the pupils are interested in having formed, PTA members declare.

COMMUNISTS

rean armistice conferences:

The troops, members of the famous 27th Wolfhound regiment, moved into compound 62 at dawn Monday to line up prisoners for interviews.

Camp officials had planned to ask each prisoner if he wanted to be interviewed for "rescreening" —to determine if he was a genuine Communist or a civilian who had been unwillingly impressed into helping the Red armies.

The Koreans immediately rushed from their quarters, brandishing steel tent-stakes, clubs and flails of barbed wire. Their leaders shouted, "kill the Americans. They are enemies."

The battalion of the Wolfhound regiment was led by Maj. John J. Klein of Houston, Tex.

"My mission," said Klein, "was to segregate the areas, divide the camps into sections and secure each quarters."

By moving in at 5:30 a. m., he said, he had hoped to avoid any organized opposition from the tough Communists in the compound.

The prisoners obviously were well-prepared, however.

The remainder of 37,000 civilian prisoners on the island had been "screened" since the first of the year, many being held to be loyal South Koreans who were forced to serve the Reds before they were captured by the Allies.

A previous attempt to screen those in compound 62 had met with such hostility that it was postponed.

Officials said a minority of radical Communists apparently had taken control of the entire compound.

General Dodd said, "the compound had become so hostile that if there are any loyal South Koreans left in there, they cannot say so.

The plan Monday was to ask each individual if he would like to be questioned, then to move him out to other quarters so he would be safe.

Knife And Fork Club Meet Set

A banquet-meeting of the Knife and Fork Club will be held tomorrow night at the Virginia Hotel at which time Carveth Wells, outstanding commentator on the West Coast and writer of many books and articles, will be the guest speaker. The meeting will begin at 8 p. m.

Wells, who has been accepted throughout the country as an authority on some of the conditions now prevalent in the Far East, recently returned from a trip through Europe and Asia gathering information and other data for the United States government. Among the books which he has written are "Kaput," "Through the Malay Jungle," and "North of Singapore," all dealing with the social and physical conditions in Asia.

Born in England, he was at one time a professor on engineering in his native country, but left the job for railroad construction work in the Malaya peninsula and later became a leader in exploring expeditions to Africa, Russia, Lapland, the Near East, Panama and Mexico.

A large crowd is expected at this meeting, which will be the next to last one for the current year.

WAITING UNTIL SOMETHING GOES WRONG

Is the expensive way to run your car. You can save 12½% in loss of use of your car, if you:

1. Keep tire pressure at the exact figure, no more, no less.
2. Criss-cross tires every so often, using spare.
3. Keep speed down.
4. Make sure your wheels are properly aligned.
5. Fill your gas tank often, air in the tank mixes with the gas, and air contains moisture which is harmful to the motor.
6. Make sure all battery connections are tight and corrosion-free.
7. Check brakes every 5,000 miles.
8. Have a complete change of grease in the rear end transmission twice a year.
9. Have a chassis lubrication every 1,000 miles.
10. Have a complete check-up twice a year.

A Public Servant Bows Out; Hicks Leaves Shining Record

Tom E. Hicks, ward five police juror for in his bid for re-election for another term. the past 18 years, was rejected by the voters

Hicks' defeat was attributed to various circumstances by different people. Most ward five voters were surprised that Hicks was defeated. He was generally considered the "big favorite" in the run-off election. He commanded a substantial lead for first place in the first primary.

In fact, Hicks only needed some forty odd votes for a clear majority in the first primary.

During his many years of service to ward five which embraces West Monroe, Tom Hicks has unquestionably accomplished much, always putting his public duties ahead of his personal convenience.

In addition to serving on the Ouachita parish police jury, Hicks has been a driving force in the Tensas Levee Basin Board, a body with which he now serves as president.

During his many years of service, Hicks had come to know many of the "right people" who could secure state and federal funds for the various programs that come under the jurisdiction of the police jury and levee board.

His achievements will stand out for many years to come as marks of progress that have helped to build West Monroe and ward five. Levees, roads and drainage facilities have been greatly expanded and improved since Tom Hicks entered the public picture in West Monroe.

Few delegations going to Baton Rouge in order to secure funds for this area have been without the presence of Hicks. He spent much of his own money in order to secure assistance for valuable projects that have long since been completed and are now serving ward five and the fifth district.

His service on committees that went to Baton Rouge to testify in behalf of these programs has in many instances put the argument over. He has also gone, on several occasions, to Washington where millions of dollars have been secured for flood and drainage programs in his territory.

In another public service, which has seldom been publicized, Hicks has for years made it a hobby of his to donate the front door to any new church constructed in ward five. Many of the churches built in ward five over the past years now are fitted with doors supplied by Hicks.

Hicks recently said "I have been supplying doors for new churches for years—it's a favorite hobby of mine."

Few people in West Monroe can claim the record of public service that can be claimed by Tom E. Hicks.

And, his record of service with the police jury leaves a challenge that will not be easily met by his successors.

GERMAN IN U. S. ARMY

Darmstadt, Germany, (AP)— Young Peter Fleck, who used to wear the blue-gray of the German Luftwaffe, is back in uniform again—this time it's American olive drab.

Fleck, 23, was yanked into the Luftwaffe air defenses when he was 15. Because of his youth and because his service was "auxiliary" Fleck escaped life in a prisoner of war camp.

Last May Peter got permission and went to the United States to the home of his cousin, Arthur Fleck, of Lindenhurst, Long Island. But Selective Service reached out soon and last August Peter found himself at Ft. Knox, Ky. Soon after training he headed for the U. S. 1st division and duty in his homeland. He says military service is a small price to pay for American citizenship.

Miss Lois Stout And Frank Spann United In Marriage

Bridal Couple Exchange Vows At Home Of Mrs. Jack Bell In Lake Providence

Affectionate interest throughout this area where the contracting parties have spent their lives and where the two families have relatives and friends and where they have been prominent in social, religious and business circles, is the marriage of Miss Lois Stout, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Stout of Delhi, to Frank Spann, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Spann of Wisner.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack E. Bell on Blackburn avenue in Lake Providence was the scene of the lovely wedding with the bridal couple standing before an improvised altar marked by floor baskets of white gladioli and fern. The bridal theme of white and green was carried out in all decorations of the home.

The Rev. C. A. Martin, pastor of the Lake Providence Baptist Church officiated at the double-ring ceremony, performed Sunday, Feb. 3, at three in the afternoon.

Mrs. Jack E. Bell, only sister of the bride, was her matron of honor and only attendant. Wearing a copper linen suit, double-breasted, with belted jacket fronted with jumbo sized white buttons at the beltline, she added a corsage of canary ranunculas and small straw hat of natural color for complement of her eclat grooming.

The bride made a charming picture as she stood to take her wedding vows. She wore a Lily Ann original spring suit of navy blue crepe enhanced by over collar and cuffs of white linen with navy blue polka dots. On the wrist length jacket sleeves the overcuff fitted snugly and flared towards the elbow into deep pleats. A nipped in waistline accentuated the fullness of the flared skirt A navy blue milan straw, with white roll trim, and short veil, shoulder corsage of white cattleya orchids on spray of satin tubette added glamour to her loveliness.

Mr. Walter Roach of Wisner was the bridgroom's best man.

Mrs. Stout mother of the bride, was wearing a silk print suit with teal foundation, patterned in black and white, for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was of white Dutch iris, and her accessories were in black.

Mrs. Spann, mother of the bridegroom, chose a suit in maroon with black accessories, and shoulder corsage of white carnations.

After the wedding ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Bell were hosts at an informal reception, and with the newly married couple and their parents, welcomed the guests and received congratulations and well wishes.

At one end of the bride's table, overlaid with green cloth, was the tiered wedding cake, topped with miniature bride and groom. At the opposite end was the crystal punch bowl, at which Miss Jeantte Reynolds of Delhi, presided. Mrs. C. P. Bradley, of Delhi served the cake. The table's decor was a spray of huckleberry foliage interspersed with nosegays of white gladioli and fern.

After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Spann will make their home in Wisner, where the groom has farming interests.

Mrs. Spann was graduated from Delhi High School and attended Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, Ruston. Mr. Span was graduated from the Wisner high school and is a veteran of World War II.

Guests from out of town included, from Delhi, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Stout, parents of the bride; Mrs. Sallie Stout, the bride's paternal grandmother; Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Dupree; Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Bradley, and children; Mrs. J. M. Sledge and son Curtis Sledge; Mrs. Cleo Reynolds and daughter Miss Jeanette Reynolds; and Walter L. Orondoff. From Wisner, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Spann, parents of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Beary; Ed McKey and Walter Roach. Miss Joyce Anderson, of Tallulah; Mr. and Mrs. James Turner of Winnsboro; and Mrs. Douglas Robinson and children, Doug., Ann, Mike and Ellen of Rayville.

Thrifty Homemakers' Club Meets With Mrs. Thomas Whyte

Greater intensity of color will be featured in the spring - summer wardrobe, reported Mrs. Judson Moore at a meeting of the Thrifty Homemakers Club Friday.

Parisian fashions are featuring pastel shades of clear sky-blues and pinks. Color tones range from blossom to lush rose — from flax to tan. Mrs. Moore, clothing leader of the club, stated that there is no shortage of clothing at the present time, but more women will be doing their own sewing because of higher prices.

Other reports given were on insect control, with Mrs Moore substituting for Mrs Archie White, the garden leader; on family laundry by Mrs. T. A. Funchess, home management leader, and on 4-H work by Mrs. Thomas Whyte.

Discussing color trends further, Mrs. Moore said that beige will be widely used this year, in tones varying from rosy into golden or toast browns.

Newest member of the beige family is greenish, with an olive drab influence.

Mrs. Moore said that greens, blues and reds will still be available, but some of them will have a more intense cast. Greys will hold a prominent spot in the coming season with light metallic-into-charcoal shades being featured.

In her report on insect control, Mrs. Moore suggested a number of insecticides to be used to control different varieties of insects Most important steps in controlling insect pests, however, are first to clean up and burn all old vegetation, and second to keep insecticides on hand and ready for use when needed. Cryolite, DDT, nicotene, botentone and sabatilla are recommended, and, said Mrs. Moore, if properly used will insure control of most garden pests.

Mrs. Funchess' report pointed out that over-washing is injurious to fabrics. Long soaking periods are definitely outmoded, and actually cause the fabric to absorb more dirt rather than clean it. A washing period of about fifteen minutes was recommended.

Mrs. Thomas Whyte, 4-H leader discussed plans for contacting and enlisting members in 4-H work, and also presented plans for achievement day.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Thomas Whyte, with the following members present: Mesdames T. A. Funchess, Willie Smith, Herbert Moore, Judson Moore, A. R. Walker, Cline Averett, Henry Johnson, Kenneth Lee and the hostess.

MISS ELEANOR MITCHELL IS FETED AT PRENUPTIAL PARTIES

Lake Providence, La., Feb. 22.—(Special)—With the week's calendar filled with delightful parties for Miss Eleanor Mitchell, bride-elect of Louis Craig, of Monroe, one of the most enjoyable and unique was with Mrs. J. Preston Davis and daughter Miss LaVerne Davis entertaining on Friday evening at seven at a chicken spaghetti dinner.

Guests were limited to the coterie which had enjoyed school, church and social life as a clique.

The dining table was a depiction of the honoree's road of life to date, from birth to the church altar; beginning at a table corner with a mirrored surface, depicting the local lake, on which gracefully floated a swan carrying a picture of a young child, who was born nearby on famed Waddill plantation with it's 1200 acres, then with the zigzag road, marked with flowers, beach shells and rocks one came to the Lake Providence High School, around which were grouped pictures of the gang, then on to the Methodist Church, where honoree and guests had received their religious education. Near the church's steps stood Miss Mitchell as pictured in an early snapshot, taken from the hostess's scrap book. Then, too, at the church, stood a miniature bride and groom, representing the future bride and groom, in wedding toggery ready for the service.

For the dinner party Miss Mitchell was chic wearing a spring silk print with bolero and shoulder corsage of purple dawn japonicas.

Guests, Mrs. Dolphus McKenzie, Mrs. John Shelby McKenzie, Mrs. Edward W. Patrick, Mrs. Adrienne Williams Pearson, Miss Bettye Abernethy, and Mrs. Graham Schneider, with the honoree enjoyed the hours after the dinner in reminiscing over their childhood life from pictures in the hostess's scrap book, collected as a school day hobby.

The hostesses presented Miss Mitchell with a tea spoon in her chosen pattern of silver.

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. William Ray Abernethy and daughter Miss Bettye Abernethy added to the pleasure of Miss Eleanor Mitchell's prenuptial days by entertaining at cards at the American Legion Home on Tensas Bayou.

The spacious lounge of the home was picturesque in a decoration of white narcissi mixed with iris leaves, and vased yellow daffodils interspersing the potted ivies and Madeira vines.

Miss Mitchell was lovely in a navy sheer, self buttoned trimmed, with white waffle pique embroidered collar traced in rhinestone circles. Her shoulder corsage was of mixed ranunculus tied in gold ribbon.

Pottery bowls were prizes and the high score prize went to Mrs. Dolphus McKenzie, and consolation prize to Mrs. Patrick. The honoree was presented with a set of amber water glasses.

Guests for the games were Mesdames John Shelby McKenzie, Dolphus McKenzie, Edward W. Patrick, Graham Schneider, Adrienne Williams Pearson, and Misses Jo-Rene Myers, Phallie Evans and the honoree.

Tea guests invited were Mrs. J. W. McDaniel, Mrs. Leon Harbin, Miss LaVerne Davis, Mrs. W. H. Maben, Mrs. John Markey, Mrs. M. P. Erwin, Jr., Mrs. J. L. Johnson, Mrs. Edward Koserog and Mrs. C. B. Apologies—I still can't give you the exact dates for the hat classes because the molds we ordered haven't arrived. Surely they'll be here this week and I'll give you that information next Sunday. Food News

Mrs. A. H. Salisbury says you pretty 'nigh have to live in a garden to live out of it. He has only a small plot but he's been busy planting cabbage, spinach, parsley, turnips, shallots, and radishes. In fact Mr. Salisbury asked for our vegetable planting guide that tells you when to plant everything, the best varieties, how much seed to buy, how much fertilizer to use and how to plant. You can get one of these, too by calling 3-2251. The best vegetables are those that go from the garden to the table in a few hours. More vitamins you get that way.

Food plentifuls for week of February 24 through March 1 are lettuce, eggs and honey. Plentiful foods are usually the best buys.

Around The Yard

It's time now to prune those roses, time to plant and transplant, fertilize and spray for leaf spot. If you have our new rose bulletin read instructions for everything to do. You can get one by calling. I'm glad Mrs. W. G. Haynes put her rose bed on the west side of her house. Lynn Barnett, Mrs. Spielman and I can enjoy the blooms while we work. Maybe that's why she planted them there—but I have an idea that Miss Eva was looking for full sun.

Guess we'll have to call on Annie Mae Hawthorne when we want some gladiolus blooms. She's been planting the corms this month and she really has a growing hand. Must have gotten that from her mother Mrs. F. T. Smith, who can grow anything. But back to bulbs. Start now and plant galdiolus every two weeks through March. Glads country cousin, Montbretia can be planted now, too. Plant Dahlia tubers and stake them at the same time. Then you won't injure them by staking later. Prune evergreen shrubs and late summer and fall blooming plants. Keep the pruning shears out of spring flowering shrubs until they have quit blooming.

A beautiful sight is the pine thicket with bulbs planted under the trees—at the Claude Harrison's home on Loop Road. Also note their Youpon hedge. There's a beautiful hedge of Youpons across the front of the D. C. Black home across from Louisiana Baptist Childrens' Home, 7103 DeSiard Road.

It's time to roll your lawn. Don't roll too soon after a rain. You can rent a roller at a local seed store, by the day. It's very light but when filled with water weighs about 160 lbs. Rolling makes the lawn smooth and causes your centipede or St. Augustine grass to take hold better. Ideal for new lawns just after broadcasting grass seed.

Valentine Party Enjoyed By Members Of Delta Rho Delta

Lovely Affair Given At Mickel Home On Thursday Evening

A Valentine theme was carried out in all details when Delta Rho Delta members and guests were entertained on Thursday evening, with Misses Ann and Freeda Mickel hostesses for the occasion.

Miss Freeda Mckel received guests at the entrance and welcomed them in the living room. Mixed spring flowers, of red and white, used in the entrance hall gave it a festive air. A profusion of beautiful red and white camellias were used at vantage points in the spacious reception room where members grouped for conversation and to welcome the guests. An unusual arrangement of camellias flanked the coffee table.

The dining room carried out the Valentine theme with refreshment table overlaid with red cloth. The central decor held a specimen of red camellias contrasting with the silver candlesticks with their white candles. The individual heart shaped cakes were crested with red and the frozen desert further carried out the Valentine motif of red and white.

Those present to enjoy this gala affair were Miss Lillie Glenn, Mrs. Catherin Buckley, Mrs. W. Fields, Miss Joe Patterson, Miss Wilma Smith, Miss Freeda Mickel, Miss Hermione Driskell, Mrs. James N. Riddle, Mrs. Carri Beard, Miss Marguerite Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Edna Riley, Miss Mary Riser, Miss Mary Elizabeth Stringer, Miss Mary Louise Farr, Miss Leita Mae King, Miss Martha Ann Kennedy, Miss Jean Dozier, Miss Bernice McCrary, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Taylor, Mrs. Bertha Patterson, Miss Mary Ann Ashford, Mrs. Jean Boyce, Miss Ann Mickel and Miss Ruth Elizabeth Kennedy.

Girl Scout News

Believe it or not, as raw a day as Saturday before last was, approximately a hundred girls, leaders, brothers and sisters, papas and mamas went out to camp to plant trees and have fun. Most of the girls remembered their galoshes and scarves, so we hope nobody got sick. It takes a lot to dampen the spirits of Girl Scouts!

Troop 40 did bring a Magnolia tree, troops 35 and 31 planted a cedar and a tiny holly apiece. Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Landers planted for troop 31 two well-shaped oaks. Troops 34 and 10 pianted oaks, also, and troop 39 a pecan tree. Numerous small trees were planted by girls representing ten troops. Mr. Cumeaux of the forestry department brought 50 pine seedlings and showed how to plant them. Did you think that to plant any tree one just dug a hole, pulverized the dirt, and spread the roots outcarefully? Not at all; there's a special way, as any Scout who was present can tell you.

Some of the troops roasted weiners, others made hot cocoa to go with their sandwiches. The day was so cold that all spent some time around the outdoor fires. That fireplace that is being built would surely have come in handy that Saturday, I imagine. One group of girls got up a ball game, one or two hiked to the river, but nobody stayed at camp too long. Haven't heard what happened yesterday, when more girls were planning to plant more trees. One thing sure, the trees ought to grow in all this damp weather.

Two valentine activities we've heard of were carried out by troop 7 and troop 34, both Brownie Fly-Ups. The girls of troop 7 painted odd jars to make attractive vases as gifts for their Mothers. Troop 34 made valentines for the children at Charity hospital and took them themselves, along with heart shaped cookies for a treat. Mrs. W. V. Roy and Mrs. Sidney Williams helped troop 7, while Mrs. S. C. Strausser and Mrs. Robert Easterling planned with troop 34.

Weren't we proud of the seven girls who spoke at the annual meeting? Nancy Breard, Carey Sue Turner, Gerrie Dickerson, Nancy Clare Noland, Polly Riser, Noel Standley, and Cheryl Fink told about Girl Scout camping, the girl planning board, international friendship, and troop program. Did you, perchance, hear Cheryl on the radio the next morning? "Cousin" Bill, our Mary's husband, asked Cheryl to appear on the Happiness Exchange because her talk fitted in with the theme of Brotherhood Week.

Can't catch up with all the news, but keep sending it to us.

Junior Charity League Entertains At Lovely Tea

Fifteen Provisional Members Honored At Beautiful Bayou Home Of Dr. And Mrs. N. G. Gaston

Fifteen new members have been elected by popular vote to the Junior Charity League of Monroe.

For a year this group of young women will be classed as provisional members. Then, having completed their training, they will become actives, contributing a required number of hours each week and thus taking part in the League's program of voluteer service to the community.

As provisionals they will learn the history of the League, the purpose of volunteer work and the projects, past and present of the League. They will learn where the volunteer worker is needed, and how she may best contribute to the community in which she lives. They will take field trips to the various centers of League activity in the city: crippled children's clinic, Charity Hospital and the Thrift Shop, which is operated by the League at 200 north 8th St. to finance its other projects.

The following provisionals were introduced at the tea given by the former president, Mrs. Morgan Simonton and the newly elected president, Mrs. John Duchkar, at the beautiful bayou home of Mrs. Duchkar's parents, Dr. and Mrs. N. G. Gaston: Mrs. J. R. Eunson was wearing a cotillion blue crepe; Miss Tommy Sue Eaves, in navy crepe with white linen briefer; Mrs. Larry Fox, wearing grey flannel suit; Mrs. Harry Frazer in grey tailleur; Mrs. Fred Frazier in cocoa gabardine suit; Mrs. James Gates, in chartreuse silk shantung; Mrs. Robert George in beige shantung; Mrs. Raymond John, wearing aqua and toast wool; Mrs. Richard Kellogg, in white flannel; Mrs. Roy C. Meeks, in navy moire; Miss Sarah Terzia, in aqua crepe with poodle cloth briefer; Mrs. Dan Moore, Jr., in black crepe with plaid taffeta trim in black and white checks; Mrs. John B. Oakland, in beige and brown tweed suit; and Mrs. Jack Taylor in mellon printed silk. Mrs. Charles Siess was unable to be present.

Greeting the guests in the entrance foyer of the lovely N. G. Gaston home were the president, Mrs. Morgan Simonton, charmingly attired in a black spring model with camellia corsage, and Mrs. John Duchkar in an early spring creation of beige and black linen with black accessories.

The tea table in the dining room overlooking Bayou DeSiard had for center decor an exquisite white milk glass punch bowl surmounted on a mound of colorful fruit and greenery. Mrs. Roy Johns presided at the punch bowl. She wore navy shantung with rose colored corsage. Assisting in the dining room were the following who wore camellia corsages: Mrs. Ralph Talbot in poudre blue faille; Mrs. Arthur Grant in black and yellow Chinese silk print; and Mrs. Corbin Turpin in metallic grey moire.

The living room, radiant with early spring flowers, was the setting for the informal conversation hour enjoyed by the new provisionals and the active members of the League. A distinctive arrangement of white stock, tulips and fern was placed at a vantage point on a low coffee table before the picture window. Facing the picture window the huge open fire place was a perfect setting for the conversational groups gathered there. Seventy-five active members were invited to enjoy this occasion given by the two hostesses, honoring the newly elected members.

Buick even keeps the Sun in its Place

Of course, this new glass—which reduces glare and incoming sun-heat—is a Buick feature in '52

Wheel Cresta standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.

With all the new things we've had to talk about in 1952 Buicks, we're just getting around to this one.

It's called "Easy-Eye Glass"†—a new kind of glass with a cool, soft, blue-green tint, which filters the sun's rays entering your car—cuts down their glare and heat.

You'll appreciate the "glare control" at any time—and when you hit your first stretch of hot-weather driving you'll find that this glass does a great job of keeping the heat out of your lap.

We know—because thousands of happy Buick owners already have this new comfort feature. The rest of the automobile industry is just beginning to discover what Buick discovered a year ago. It's a great idea, which costs you very little extra if you order it when you're buying a new car.

But this still leaves the other folks with a lot of catching up to do.

You'll look a long way before you'll find anything that approaches a Buick's million dollar ride.

You'll look a long way before you'll find anything so completely satisfying as Dynaflow Drive.*

You'll find it hard to match the style and beauty and harmonious good taste of a 1952 Buick's interior trim and fabrics.

And when it comes to what you get for what you pay—we'll gladly match price tags with the field.

Have you had a good look at the '52 Buicks? That's something you ought to do soon.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. †Optional at extra cost—available on most models. (Not presently available in Massachusetts.) *Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Sure is true for '52

To The People Of Ouachita and Morehouse Parishes

Your expression of confidence by electing me as Judge of the Fourth Judicial District Court in last Tuesday's primary fills me with a deep feeling of humility and gratitude.

Because of the short time between the election call and the election, I was unable to see as many of you personally as I desired. I wish it were possible to see each one of you to express my thanks personally.

I do appreciate your support and I pledge to you to carry out the duties of the District Judge to the best of my ability.

Lida Benton P.-T. A. Has Founders' Day Program At Meeting

Founders' Day was observed at the February meeting of the Lida Benton P.-T. A. An elaborate birthday cake decorated in the colors of the organization centered the speakers' table and the "Founders' Day Message was given by the guest speaker, Mrs. Howard Rivers. Mrs. Rivers said, "The aims of the P.-T. A. are the same today as they were 55 years ago—to help every child reach his maximum development in his special way. The center of the school is the child and next in importance is the teacher who should love to teach, love the child and enjoy her work. What is best for the child is of prime importance to both the home and the school. Children are molded in patterns by the home but when they reach school they are not mature and the school continues the training. It is a handicap to a child when parents and teachers do not work together and the child must live in two worlds. Discipline is a way of guiding, not just punishing, for these reasons: The child who is unhappy or who is not getting along well is troubled; when the child fails in some way, do not blame the child. The failure is in not finding his potentiality; the 'problem' child is the child with a problem."

The song, "Service for Others," expressing the objective of P.-T. A. was followed by an impressive presentation of the Cub Scouts of the school troops sponsored by the P.-T. A. A most amusing reading was given by Ashley Johnson. Mrs. Clair White, accompanied by Mrs. Cantrell at the piano, sang "Others."

Refreshments were served by the second grade room mothers at tables centered with beautiful arrangements of spring flowers.

In observance of this, a pageant entitled: "Our Child Welfare Program" was presented by the following mothers: Mrs. J. U. Crotwell, Mrs. E. L. Walker, Mrs. G. L. Ricardo, Mrs. Shelby Graves, Mrs. W. F. Ross, Mrs. Harold Hunt, Mrs. O. C. Lanier and Mrs. Robert H. Taylor.

News From The Public Library

Every day new borrowers register at the different branches of the Ouachita Parish Public Library. These people are finding that the library can satisfy their needs for reading material. If you are interested in reading for pleasure, we have a large collection of books of that type. If you want to do reference work, we have a splendid collection of reference books. Are you interested in genealogy? People from all over northeast Louisiana come to the Monroe branch to use the geneological collection and find out more about their ancestors. It is amazing how many people use the books from the library for serious reading and study. The reading of non-fiction books becomes more popular every day and for that reason numerous new titles are added to the library collection each month.

What are some of the most recent titles? "Men of West Point" by Richard Ernest Dupuy is a fascinating history of the United States Military Academy and a history of many of the outstanding men who attended it. "Adventures in two worlds" is the autobiography of A. J. Cronin. He tells about his life which was lived in the two worlds of medicine and writing. Another fascinating autobiography is "Born of Those Years" by Perry Burgess. This is the true story of a man who dedicated his life to working with the victims of leprosy. His story is a very human and moving one. He writes beautifully and he has a message for all of us.

Students of the Bible will be interested in a lovely new book recently added to the Library collection. It is called "The Reader's Bible." It is a beautiful edition of the Bible arranged in modern form for easy reading. If you are interested in a book on public speaking, a lovely new one in the library collection is "Speak for yourself" by Jessica Somers Driver. Gardeners will be interested in a new book called "Anyone can grow roses" written by Cynthia Westcott, who is on authority on gardening.

There is probably no problem that is of more general concern than that of Juvenile delinquency.

"Delinquents in the Making" by Sheldon Glueck is a new book which attempts to get at the causes of the problem and proposes methods for combating it. "Anyone Wife or Any Husband" by Joan Malleson is a new book with a novel approach to the problem of married happiness. It is well worth reading, if you have any sort of marital problem.

For many years people believed in the existence of all sorts of remarkable animals, such as the dragon, centaur, etc. Peter Lum has written a new book called "Fabulous Beasts," which deals with all of these startling animals. It is beautifully illustrated and will be of great interest to those who like to read about mythological subjects.

There is a great interest in Ouachita Parish at the present time in painting and drawing. "Advice to a Young Artist" by Etienne Ret is a book that should be most valuable to those who are studying the subject.

Children are most enthusiastic users of the library and their interests have not been neglected. A fascinating new series of books for children is the "Real Book Series." Each volume is written by a different author and deals with a special subject. One is "The Real Book About Explorers." Another is "The Real Book About Texas Rangers." Volumes in this series also deal with baseball, stars, trains, magic, inventions, dogs, cowboys, airplanes and other subjects dear to the heart of children.

The Ouachita Parish Public Library is equipped to serve the public of Ouachita Parish. It is your library and we invite you to use it. The Monroe branch is located at 418 Jackson Street. The West Monroe branch is at 106 Cypress Street, the Carver branch is at 116 North 10th Street in Monroe and the Bookmobile covers the sections outside the city limits of Monroe and West Monroe. Why not take advantage of the branch which fills your needs?

Study This Hand For Future Use

By Oswald Jacoby

There are bound to be beautifully played hands in any national tournament, and the Vanderbilt Cup Tournament, now being played in New York, is no exception to the rule.

I'll be surprised, however, if this year's tournament produces as elegant a hand as the one that B. J. Becker played in last year's Vanderbilt Tournament in Chicago.

Becker won the opening lead with dummy's king of diamonds and began a safety play by leading a low trump from dummy. It would have been fatal to begin the trumps by laying down dummy's king.

When East discarded a club on the first round of trumps, Becker won with the ace of spades and returned a low trump towards dummy. West put up the ten of spades, and dummy won with the king.

Opening lead—♣ Q

It was not safe to continue trumps, for West would take the queen and lead out a fourth trump to prevent dummy from ruffing a diamond later on. Hence declarer took the ace of diamonds and ruffed a diamond with dummy's five of spades before continuing the trumps.

At this point Becker, one of the most careful bridge players in the world, noticed something that players would overlook. If he went right back to trumps, West would take the queen of spades and lead a fourth diamond.

South would have to ruff and draw the last trump. The hearts would then be blocked, and there would be no way to win the rest of the tricks.

Hence Becker patiently led out the ace and jack of hearts from the dummy before going back to the trumps. But even this was not enough. If he led trumps at this point, West would take the queen of spades and return a club. Then the only way to get out of dummy would be by way of a second round of clubs—which wuuld give West a trump trick.

So Becker carefully cashed the ace of clubs also before leading the nine of spades. But then it was safe to lead the trump. West could take his queen, but no matter what he then returned declarer was bound to regain the lead in order to draw the last trump and win the rest of the tricks.

Q—The bidding has been: East, South, West, North, Pass, Pass, Pass, 1 Spade, Pass, ?.

You, South, hold: Spades 10-3, Hearts K-J-5, Diamonds K-10-5-3, Clubs K-J-9-4. What do you do?

A—Bid two no-trump. The hand is a trifle light for this jump response except for the fact that you have passed originally. This pass warns your partner that you have less than an opening bid and that you have probably stretched to make the jump response.

WEED WARFARE PLANS FORMED

Premerge Is Urged As Means Of Destroying Destructive Growth

Farsighted cotton growers, who remembered their difficult and expensive battle with weeds and grass the past season, are beginning now to get better prepared for the planting season next spring.

Many of these growers, either as a result of their own experience or through the experiences of their neighbors, are planning to make use of the new "dinitro" chemical formulation known as Premerge to fight this battle in 1952, according to E. B. Martin of Tyner-Petrus Co. in West Monroe.

"The cost of using Premerge was far less than hoe hands who also were not always available last spring," Martin advised today.

He announced that meetings are being held in the Delta area. One particularly important meeting will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday, Feb. 26 at the American Legion Building, Newellton, La. This meeting is sponsored by three (3) key Premerge dealers in that area.

C. B. Haddon, Ratcliff of the Northeast La. Experiment Station, St. Joseph, La., Bob McComb of the Dow Chemical Co. and county agents from that area will be present to speak at the meeting. All interested cotton growers are invited to attend this meeting in order to discuss this new method of weed control.

"Cotton must progress rapidly during early growth if best crop results are to be obtained. Further, there is no way of knowing whether a wet spring may prevent cultivation in the early growing period. At this time, Premerge will be most beneficial to the grower," Martin said.

"The new chemical formulation is intended to stop weeds immediately upon their emergence from the ground. Most small seeded annual weeds and grasses, such as pigweed, Florida pusley, crowfoot grass and crab grass, may be controlled by Premerge application. This must be done at the time of planting."

Weed control with Premerge is obtained by the action of a thin layer of chemical on the top layer of soil.

A dark syrupy liquid, Premerge is diluted in water and applied as a low pressure spray with an insecticide sprayer mounted on the planter and equipped with special nozzles and attachments. Accurate calibration of the spraying equipment is required to achieve uniform application. The surface of the soil must be as free from clods and trash as possible.

Adapter kits are being made available, as well as complete spraying units by a number of equipment manufacturers. Details of this equipment are available through local farm equipment dealers, Martin said.

Manicure Your Nails With Care

By Alicia Hart
NEA Beauty Editor

If you're not satisfied with the shape your nails are in, there's no better time than right now to do something about it.

Because your hands and nails are in constant contact with objects that might mar their appearance, you simply can't overdo daily care. Pamper your cuticle with cream.

Stubborn hangnails should be snipped off, but never cut the cuticle. Once you start cutting, you create an endless and unattractive task.

Massage your hands and fingers with lotion. This helps to stimulate the circulation, and actually encourages a softer contour.

You might ask yourself, at this point, how you use your hands and nails. Do they double for pliers, screw drivers and scissors?

Are you too busy to slip on rubber gloves when you are working around the house, or washing dishes?

All the beauty care in the world will be to no avail, if you make a practice of abusing your nails and hands when you use them.

A manicure, regardless of how well it is applied, will rarely last beyond ten days. To be sure that your nails are never chipped, why not re-polish them once a week?

A home manicure can look professional, with a little patience and know-how.

You will need a good nail enamel remover, cotton, emery boards, powder polish or paste polish, buffer, bowl of warm soapsuds, towel, orangewood stick, nail cream, cuticle remover, and base coat.

Then you'll need your favorite enamel (in whatever shade you prefer), and finally, the top coat.

Once you have removed the old enamel and filed your nails with an emery board, (keeping them in a rounded oval shape, (buff them with the powder or paste polish.

Next, soak the fingers of each hand in warm soapy water for about three minutes. Dry the fingertips and push the cuticle gently back with a towel. This is the moment to massage the nail cream around the base of the nails.

Before you begin to apply the base coat, wipe each nail with cotton moistened in remover to take away any remaining trace of oil or moisture.

Now you are ready to apply the enamel, and to decide on any shaping that may be necessary. Think of nail enamel as you do lipstick. Create illusions of width or narrowness with color.

If your nails, for instance, are too wide, don't extend the enamel to the sides. The short, stubby nail should be enameled from top to bottom, again leaving spaces at the sides.

The long, slender nail can afford a moon at the top, but may be entirely covered otherwise.

As for nails that are a bit "off center," you can apply your nail enamel in the usual way, but "cheat" a bit on the corner or side that is out of line.

After each coat of enamel is applied, wipe away a hairline edge at the tip, using the ball of the thumb or forefinger. The beveled edge prolongs the life of the nail enamel, and makes it less likely to chip.

As soon as the enamel is slick to a light touch, apply a thin top coat for glassy hardness and a gleaming finish. The time you allow after this coat is crucial.

It will determine whether or not the enamel will last. While you are waiting for the enamel to dry thoroughly, make good use of the time by reading a book, or taking a nap.

Remember that your hands create a definite impression about you. Keep them relaxed and lovely, and you will always be proud of their appearance.

It's so easy to give yourself a professional manicure at home, if you allow enough time, and follow the important basic steps. To stimulate circulation and make your nails healthier, buffing (upper left) with a nail powder or paste powder is an absolute necessity. Since cuticle has a habit of becoming unruly with little or no provocation, keep it in check by massaging a nail cream around the base of the nails (center left) using the cushion of your finger in a firm rotary motion. When you are ready to apply nail enamel (lower left), give some thought to the shape and general condition of your nails. With a little practice, you can actually reshape the nails, if necessary, and make them appear more beautiful. Don't limit your nail care to weekly manicures, only. Daily touch-ups and creamings will always keep them looking perfect.

GIRL SCOUTERS VOICING THANKS

Annual Meeting Highlighted By Certificates To Those Who Aided

Highlights of the Girl Scout annual meeting, held Thursday evening at Bayou DeSiard Country Club was the pesentation of certificates of appreciation to those who had made the most significant contributions to scouting in 1951. The certificates, framed in hand-tooled leather folders were awarded to Lawrence B. Pettit, Raymond Masling, E. J. Sackett, and to R. M. Kettenring, president of the Lions Club, in recognition of the work done to make possible a troop camp for Girl Scouts. Last year the Kiwanis Club was the recipient of a certificate.

In making the presentation Mrs. William Roy, camp chairman for the past year and incoming president, paid tribute to these men, the Lions Club and to all who had contributed in any way to the camp project.

Another important step in camp development was announced by Mrs. Hazel Garlington, president of the Pilot Club, who described progress being made on the fireplace which is a gift of the club. Mrs. Garlington acknowledged help given the project by Monroe Brick Co., H. M. James and Howard Taylor, who is furnishing supervision and labor.

Presiding over the meeting was Mrs. W. H. Webster, who introduced new council officers as follows: Mrs. W. V. Roy, president, Mrs. S. C. Strausser, vice-president, Mrs. W. D. Bates, treasurer. Mrs. Webster will serve as secretary. Other council members are: Mrs. George Fink, council membership; Mrs. R. E. Harrell, program; Mrs. N. L. Huckabee, organization; Mrs. J. E. Wheeler, public relations; Mrs. J. N. Riddle, training; Mrs. Robert Easterling, camp.

Mrs. Clay Albright received a gift from the council as a token of appreciation for her services as president. Mrs. Strausser awarded five-year pins to nine adults who have been registered for that length of time, Mrs. Harold Breard, Mrs. Tom Davenport, Mrs. Robert Easterling, Mrs. E. B. Ellison, Mrs. Henry Hinkle, Mrs. N L. Huckabee, Mrs. George Forman, Mrs. Clay Albright, and Mrs. F. H. Peterson.

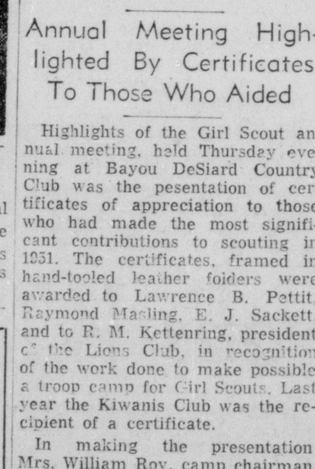

Miss Myrtle Rodgers, who was instrumental in bringing scouting to the Twin Cities, paid tribute to the volunteers who make scouting possible, presenting each leader and troop committee member present with a new Girl Scout pin as a reminder of her work.

Mrs. J. N. Riddle, training chairman, awarded certificates to the following who accumulated at least sixteen hours of training during the past year: Mrs. Paul Blackmon, Mrs. N. L. Huckabee, Mrs. A. W. Lewis, Mrs. Leon Noland, Jr., Mrs. John L. Overton, Mrs. William Roy, Mrs. Fred Riser, Mrs. Seymour Solomon, Mrs. S. C. Strausser, Mrs. H. C. Sutton, Mrs. Frank Smith, and Mrs. A. W. Wiley.

Instead of committee reports, girls from various troops told of the program as it affects the individual girls. The girls who appeared were: Gerrie Dickerson, who reported on the girl planning board; Nancy Breard and Carey Sue Turner, on troop camping; Nancy Clare Noland, on day camping; Noel Standley on established camping, and Polly Riser on international projects. Cheryl Fink, who has been a member of troop 28 for more than five years, told of the good troop program she had enjoyed. The girls were introduced by Miss Annis Klie, executive director.

Unusual table decorations featured a replica of the camp building, the work of Ted Allen. Mrs. W. T. Davis, general chairman for the dinner, Mrs. Strausser, decorations chairman, Mrs. J. E. Wheeler and Mrs. Farrell Adams were responsible for the miniature scenes of camp and other activities, which, interspersed with candles and flowers, formed centers of interest on all the long tables. At each place were printed annual reports, this year in the form of book marks. Troop leaders and committee members, representatives of other youth organizations and civic clubs attended the annual affair.

Penney Medallion Designed By Famous Sculptor

To celebrate its Golden Jubilee, J. C. Penney Company commissioned Julio Kilenyi, famous sculptor, to design a madallion symbolizing the department store chain's place in the American scene. Above, Mr. Kilenyi puts the finishing touches on his design, which is distinguished by its simplicity and warmth. One side of the madallion (left) shows the Penney Company, which this year celebrates its 50th anniversary, represented by a 50-year-old oak tree. Beneath the sturdy oak is the inscription "Growing with the Nation." On the madallion's reverse side (right) are depicted three generations of Americans who have been and are being served by J. C. Penney Company. Mr. Kilenyi, many of whose works are on permanent exhibition in the Metropolitan Museum of Art and other museums, considers the Penney madallion one of his finest examples of this form ot creative art.

MANY AT PALACE SALON OPENING

Visitors To Remodeled Beauty Shop Receive Roses As Gifts

A large number of people attended the formal opening of the newly remodeled Palace beauty salon Saturday.

The redecorated salon was open to visitors, who received roses as compliments of the Palace, all day Saturday.

The colorful and inviting new solon portrays a color scheme of green and coral to a display of modern design. The theme of comfort and convenience is resounded in the indirect lighting used to accentuate the natural finish which contrasts with comfortable chairs upholstered in a refreshing green.

The space of the shop has been increased to care for a large number of customers. Separate facial and tint booths have been installed for the privacy of the customer.

Mrs. Roselyn Simmons, who has had 21 years of experience as a beautician, six of them with The Palace, will manage the new salon, assisted by a complete and enlarged staff of talented beauticians, who have been selected for their ability and courtesy. The staff is composed of Bonnie Felder, Mae Puckett, Bernice Reese, Edith Taylor, Neoma Warren, Robert Moore, stylist, and Mrs. Era Prentice, receptionist. The staff has recently undergone a two-week training course on latest hair styles, make up, and hair coloring.

The management of The Palace treated the staff to a dinner at the Rainbow Inn Saturday night.

Every detail of the new Palace Beauty salon has been designed to make the individual's beauty appointment a most pleasant and restful experience.

CHILD WELFARE RAINBOW GIVEN

Founders' Day Pageant Is Presented At Selman School Past Week

"Our Child Welfare Rainbow," a Founders Day pageant, was presented by the Founders Day chairman, Mrs. R. L. Moody, Selman Parent-Teacher Association, Thursday afternoon. This most impressive ceremony was preceeded by brief life histories of the two founders, Alice McLellan Birney and Phoebe Hearst, given by Mrs. Curtis Houston and Mrs. G. B. Wilson, respectively. Mrs. Drew Anderson, lighted the red candle and explained the red of the rainbow; the other colors were explained by — Mrs. T. W. Humpheries, the orange; Mrs. D. L. Moody, the yellow; Mrs. E. E. Nelson, the green; Mrs. Henry Powell, the blue; Mrs. C. H. Turner, the violet; Mrs. Joseph Petch, the indigo; and Mrs. O. M. Crawford the white. These lighted tapers, in crystal candelabrums formed the center decor, flanking a lovely arrangement of blue Dutch iris and yellow daffodils and yellow painted daisies — thus portraying the P.-T. A. colors.

Mrs. G. B. Wilson, chairman for the afternoon's program, introduced Capt. Jack Hesketh, the guest speaker, saying, "We are privileged to have with us this afternoon a man who has done much for our children and youth since taking the duties of recreational director, April 1, 1946. He came to us from a similar position, Chicago. He is a native of the state of Rhode Island. I present to you Capt. Jack Hesketh, director of recreation, city of Monroe."

Capt. Hesketh chose as his subject "Youth Participation in Community Activities is a Must." He said in part: "Allow me to quote the definition of a boy—'A piece of skin stretched over an appetite, A noise covered with smudge, Like an ice-berg, ⅞s of him is hidden away waiting for some explorer to come along.

He is part human, part angel, and part barbarian. He is called a tornado, because he comes at the most unexpected times, hits the most unexpected places, and leaves everything a wreck behind him. He can run like a deer, climb like a squirrel, bellow like a bull, balk like a mule, and eat like a horse. He is a growing animal of superlative promise, to be fed watered and kept warm. A joy forever, a periodic nuisance, the problem of our times, the hope of a nation. Every new boy born is evidence that the Lord is not yet discouraged with man."

"Boys and girls in any community need to be shown and given the opportunity to do things in a constructive way. There are all kinds of community activities that we can take part in and enjoy. We have Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and many other useful organizations. Someone has said, "Recreation is essentially an attitude or spirit which finds expression in varied forms and which brings a way of rich and joyful living to children, youth and adults. . . . Our city government has realized this and has given us money to carry on a program of recreation for you and your children. I am sorry to say that many of you do not know we have a recreation program and many of those that do know we have such a program do not take any part in it.

"There is no doubt in my mind that the citizens of our community who take part in a community program are much better off than those who sit back and let someone else do it.

"Our recreation program can help create character in our youth. The program tends to give them something to do and keeps them busy at all times. Since 1946, I know of only two boys who took time out from the recreation program to get themselves in trouble and they were not 100 percenters in the program . . . Why do boys get into trouble? The answer is, Too much leisure time on their hands. We must see that these boys are participating in community activities.

"The present program of recreation in your city includes — Softball, baseball, basketball, crafts, Dramatic club, Stamp club, Youth night, Teen Age club and two centers. We need recreation centers in all parts of the city—one large center centrally located, where all kinds of programs can be had for all ages.

Mrs. Parker Humble, president, presided during the business session. The following officers were nominated for the coming year—Mrs. O. M. Crawford, president; Mrs. R. L. Moody, vice-president; Mrs. W. E. Chitty, secretary and Mrs. Earl Becton, Jr. treasurer. Five rooms won $2.00 room awards—4th grade — Mrs. Lera Hennessy; 2nd grade—Mrs. Oreatha Luttrell; 3rd grade, Miss Martha Turnley; 2nd grade Mrs. Jase Johnson; 5th grade — Mrs. G. B. Wilson — each had ten mothers present.

The Third grade mothers served coffee and cake during the social hour. The cake served was a beautifully embossed birthday cake—bearing the inscription—Founders Day 1897-1952—in the P.-T. A. colors, blue and gold against a snowy white background. Each member made a gift in silver in memory and honor of State and National Founders.

VORNADO AIR CONDITIONER SHOWN

The new 1952 Vornado air conditioner was introduced for the first time in this area last night to a group of leading Monroe and neighboring town appliance dealers, by sales representatives of the Westinghouse Electric Supply Company, Shreveport, at a dinner meeting held in the Frances Hotel.

In an interesting meeting conducted by Mr. A. L. Schriber, specialty sales manager of Westinghouse Electric Supply Company for Louisiana and southern Mississippi, assisted by Mr. H. M. Hilburn, representative of the Vornado factory and Mr. Jack Grab, Westinghouse, Shreveport, the appealing design and beauty of the unit, its superior performance characteristics, the ease of installation, its low cost of operation and high quality of construction were dramatically demonstrated.

A high point of interest in the show was the quick freezing of fresh cut flowers, vegetables and "Oscar," a lively little gold fish, which subsequently thawed and continued swimming in his bowl with apparently no bad after effects at all.

Another interesting feature was the dramatization of the effective dehumidification feature of the Vornado air conditioner in which Miss Patty McQueen, the "Doll of New Oreans," 1949 titlist, took a shower bath in the quantity of water normally removed from the air in a room every 24 hours.

Many exclusive Vornado features such as variable capacity control, high velocity air movement, twin centrifugal blower fans, completely adjustable twin air outlet nozzles and freedom from water drippage and leakage troubles won enthusiastic expressions of praise from the attending dealer personnel. Dorothy DiX

DEAR MISS DIX: Last summer I married a boy against his parents' wishes. He was hurt by their disapproval, but married me anyway. Wanting to make a good impression, I had a big church wedding for which I went deeply into debt without telling my fiance. I also had other debts. I promised him that I would save his allotment checks so we would have a nest egg, but, of course, had to use the money for my bills. I have a good job, but between paying my debts and living, it takes all the money I make or get from him. Now I have admitted my debts, as an honorable person should, and asked him for his savings to help clear them. I also know that his parents have some bonds of his, on which they are co-owners. Am I not entitled to these, too? His parents refuse to give them to me, but I feel I should insist on getting them.

PEARL M. C.

ANSWER: Certainly no advice I could give would please you; all I hope is that your young husband can get out of your clutches while he still has a shirt to his back. I do hope, however, that by showing the merciless hunger for money which will drive many young girls to dishonesty and worse, some gullible young serviceman may be saved the fate of your husband. Too many girls are marrying today solely for the allotment check, which represents money for a good time and no responsibility entailed.

YOUR ACTIONS DISHONEST

So you acknowledged your debts "as an honorable person should"! Why, you don't even know the meaning of the word honor! Every step you've taken has been dishonest, sly, deceitful. Marrying while you had debts was dishonest. Adding to these debts for a big wedding just to make an impression was deceitful; marrying the young man against his parents' wishes, and in fact against his own good judgment, was not the action of an honorable person. You have shown not one evidence of decency in your entire treatment of your husband. He has been badly stuck in his acquisition of a wife.

Naturally you know by this time what I think of the bond situation. You have absolutely no right to them, especially under existing circumstances, and if his parents have any sense at all they'll keep the bonds tucked safely away in a safe deposit box. Even Junior shouldn't be trusted with them; picking you for a wife proves his lack of judgment. He'll improve with age and experience, probably. However, I'm afraid you won't! To you money will always be the prime requisite of life regardless of whose life you wreck to get it.

DEAR MISS DIX: What do you think of people in their forties having a child? I say they are too old, because at that age children will make them nervous. Also, younger parents are better companions for a child, and a youngster will be more proud of his parents if they are young.

DOT

ANSWER: You are taking quite a job of judging on yourself, Dot. If a couple has attained the age of 40 without having children and feel they want a child, that is their business, and as an outsider I wouldn't hazard an opinion on so personal a matter. Your objections are purely relative, anyway. While there is no doubt that younger people are physically, and usually emotionally, better equipped to become parents, it is not a hard and fast rule. Some women at 20 are more nervous than many at 50. If older parents take on the job with conscientious awareness of the responsibility, there is no reason why their offspring should be less proud of them than he would be of younger parents. We can't turn back the hands of time, and to have a wanted child at 40 is better than not having one at all. With today's longer life expectancy, the child has a good chance of being well established in life during his parents' lifetime.

DEAR MISS DIX: My mother loves to have me brush her hair at night, for about twenty minutes. I dislike doing it, as I feel I could be doing something with my friends at that time. I am 12.

JESSY V.

ANSWER: Don't you think this small favor is little enough to do for your mother in return for all she does for you? Having her hair brushed helps mother relax after a trying day; many people find nervous tensions and headaches relieved in this manner and I'm sure you don't really begrudge the service.

IN HOLLYWOOD

Hollywood, Feb. 23. — It will be interesting to watch the reaction of the other Hollywood guilds to the agreement finally reached between the Independnent Motion Picture Producers Association and the Screen Actors Guild. Under the terms of that treaty, any player appearing in a picture subsequently sold for use on TV will have to be paid a percentage of the salary he originally received for his performance - 12 ½ per cent if the sale price of the picture is under $20,000, 15 per cent if it is over $20,000.

With that precedent once established, it will be a violation of human nature if the other "creative" guilds fail to demand a similar slice of the television melon. Actors, they will argue, are no more important in movie - making than are directors, and writers, and cameramen, and editors, and costume designers, etc., etc., etc.; if actors are entitled to extra pay checks when and if the movies they make are sold for television, so are we all. And I fail to see how the producers can find any logical rebuttal for such claims.

Which all poses the question of just how many golden eggs this goose called television can be expected to lay without dying of sheer exhaustion.

The salaries paid to players on the average Class A motion picture will easily total $200,000, and 15 per cent of that amount is $30,000. Let's say that the other guilds extract, between them, a like amount (we'll be optimistic and leave the unions out in the cold for the moment) and it becomes apparent that a producer who has a picture for sale to the video circuit must pin a mighty fancy price tag on his merchandise if he hopes to have anything left for himself.

I don't believe that advertisers can carry the load: in fact, I don't believe that it can be carried at all unless some method of making individual set - owners pay for their TV entertainment is finally perfected and accepted. Meanwhile, if the other guilds follow the example established by the actors, it looks to this reporter like television is going to have a mighty tough time acquiring any picture made for theatrical release.

Idol Chatter: An experienced glamour girl is one who never wastes a blush unles there's an audience to appreciate it. . .Nominated for the most - musical - speaking - voice - in Hollywood award: Loretta Young. . .Having talked with a reliable eye-witness who saw Jane Russell get smacked by that car door, I can only conclude that she's a victim of slurcumstances. . .Look-alikes, in profile: Ida Lupino and Susan Haywar . . Don't think I've ever seen Edward G. Robinson without a cigar - or with a match of his own to light it. . .Wonder if the internal revenooers permit Lili St. Cyr to charge her wardrobe off to business expense?

When an actor or an actress signs a contract to play a principal role in a movie, the contract usually includes a clause making it mandatory for the player to stick around for added scenes if the studio bosses decided added scenes are necessary. This week it was Elsa Lanchester's turn to "stick around" - despite a night club engagement in New York - and do one added scene for the 20th Century - Fox picture, "Dream Boat." It was not until she had wired the New York spot and postponed her opening performance there for a full week that she was handed a script for her one additional movie scene. It didn't take her long to learn her dialogue, for it consisted of just one word, "Oh!" It took all of five minutes to film the scene.

One of the more amusing complications of the moment, here in Hollywood, is the one confronting Warner Brothers as a result of the Academy Award nominations. One of the nominees for "Best Performance By a Memale Star" is Jane Wyman, an actress who is under long - term contract to the Messers Warner, but who received her nominantion for work done in "The Blue Veil," a picture she made on "loan - out" to RKO. Another nominee for the same Oscar is Vivien Leigh, a free-lance actress on whose future services the Warner Brothers have no claim, but who was nominated for work done in a Warner Brothers picture, "Streetcar Named Desire." Since Ascars are sure to enhance the earnings of any picture in which the winning star appears, and (2) certain to increase the dilemma of the studio bosses in this case. Warner Brothers' support will be vitally important to either Miss Wyman or Miss Leigh. Which one will the studio favor?

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. S.

Answer To Question No. 1.

1. Yes. Why we've thought it's important to teach children the three Rs and not teach charm is a mystery. If I were teaching psychology I'd begin with charm —how to gain it. A beauty and charm course at Stephens College showed astounding results. Wallflowers, social dumbells, and girls with inferiorities almost vanished. What such a course would have done for some of us men! Boys, it may not be as late as you think.

Answer To Question No. 2.

2. Yes, according to the president of an amusement park, who says the "Tunnel of Love" has been changed to "The Atom Bomb Shelter," and "To Hell and Back." One four-year-old rode discontentedly on the "Merry - Go-Round," then commented: "This is all right, but where's the Atomic Fire Engine" Youngsters want trips in the Flying Saucer, the Atomic Ray Booster, and Buck Rogers contraptions. Kids sure have gone atomic!

Answer To Question No. 3

3. No. It has rehabilitated hosts of alcoholics and restored them to happy, useful lives, but hasn't cured them. They are stil alcoholics. One drink and they will go overboard and always will. I've helped several alcoholics rehabilitate through A. A. and medical and psychological treatment. The new drug "Antibuse" is useful in skilled hands in getting them started.

PROGRESSIVES IN MARDI GRAS

Men's Club Will Stage Dance Starting on Sunday Night

The Progressive Men's Club of Monroe has completed arrangements for its pre-Mardi Gras ball to be held at their new club at Selman Field. The dance will be held Sunday night beginning at 8:00 p.m. with music being furnished by Ben Burton and his orchestra. Sam Jungina, entertainment chairman and Leonard Accardo, co-chairman, are in complete charge of the evening's affair, and, both promise an evening of entertainment that will long be remembered by everyone attending the event.

Joe David Cascio, chairman of the building committee, stated that the new home of the P. M. C. is now prepared to hold the dance for the pre-Mardi Gras Ball, and, work will continue on the building for its first dance with a nationally famous band in the very near future. Cascio is assisted by his two capable assistants, Joseph A. Battaglia, and Vincent C. Bruscato. The building that now houses the P. M. C. was formally known as the Enlisted Men's Recreation center during the activity of Selman Field thru World War Two.

All who have attended previous affairs of the P. M. C. will well remember the time and effort put forth by the members to make each one of their events a huge success. The same applies to the dance to be held Sunday night Members of the organization have worked diligently for the past two weeks to prepare the new club for the ball that will mark the first of its kind in the new edifice. The former home of the P. M. C. was totally destroyed by fire this past October and the personnel of the organization has been planning on a new home since the loss. Local merchants, members of the organization and many others throughout the state of Louisiana have responded generously with free-will contributions toward the building fund.

A site for the permanent home of the P. M. C. is still being considered by the building committee.

Chairman Jungina is at present working on plans to bring nationally famous orchestras to Monroe to entertain the dancing feet of the area. The members of the Progressive Men's Club will hold its regular meeting at Selman Field this afternoon at 2:00 p. m.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

Study Discard Pile Rules

"We run into a certain amount of confusion," writes a San Francisco correspondent, "in replacing the red threes. We play both Canasta and Samba, and wonder if the rule is the same for both games.

"Suppose you are dealt a red three as part of your original hand. Are you allowed to replace it from the stock pile and then pick up the discard pile?"

Yes, you are permitted to do so in either Canasta or Samba. This right applies only to your very first play of a hand. Later on you are not allowed to take the discard pile.

Let me go into this matter in some detail, because a large number of fans have written to me about it. The important thing to remember is that drawing to replace a red three at your very first turn is not considered a regular play it is just a preliminary.

When the game first came to us from South America, it was customary for everybody to put down his red threes before anybody made a play. Anybody who had put down a red three then drew a card to replace it, and the play began only after all this had taken place.

Our American rule provides that you draw a card for your red three at your first turn to play instead of before the play begins. However, that draw is still considered a preliminary, just as it was in the original South American game.

That preliminary has no effect on your later play. You are still in position to choose whether you will draw from the stock pile or take the discard pile. (On most hands, of course, you will not have the right cards to take the discard pile, and therefore you will have no choice.)

This rule applies only to your very first play because that is the only time that you hold red threes that were dealt to you by the dealer. If you draw a red three, later on, from the stock pile you have already begun your play by drawing from the stock pile.

Hence you may replace the red three by drawing again from the stock pile, but you are not allowed to change horses in midstream by drawing the discard pile instead.

This follows the general principle that you must carry through on a play that you have begun. If you start to take the discard pile, you are committed to do so (if you can). You can't pick a few cards up, fiddle about with them, and then put them back and decide to draw from the stock pile instead.

Are you well versed on Canasta Rules? You'll find them all explained in Jacoby's popular 24-page booklet. Send 15 cents with your name and address to Oswald Jacoby, Box 438, Times Sq Sta., New York 18, N. Y.

OPENS AT PARAMOUNT

Detective Kirk Douglas learns the shocking truth about his wife, Eleanor Parker's past in this explosive scene from "Detective Story" opening today at the Paramount Theatre. This screen adaptation of the smash Broadway hit also stars William Bendix and Cathy O'Donnell.

'Detective Story,' Sensational Stage Success, Is Brilliant Film Thriller

Kirk Douglas, Eleanor Parker Star In Paramount Picture

The dramatic story of a big city detective, sans hokum and loaded with frank realism, will take over the screen of the Paramount Theatre when Paramount's "Detective Story" opens today. Based on the sensational Sidney Kingsley stage hit that ran on Broadway for almost two years, this William Wyler production spots Kirk Douglas, Eleanor Parker, William Bendix and Cathy O'Donnell at the head of a large cast.

Hailed by advance audiences as an unusual and unforgettable thriller that would rate among the top films of any year, "Detective Story" dedicates itself to the proposition that police officers are not callous and insensitive. In the day's work they face emotional problems, tormenting dilemmas and psychological crises — along with the threat of sudden death. These hazards, and more, are framed in a tense, high voltage story tracing twelve turbulent hours in and around a New York station house.

Against the backdrop of big city crime, the terrible conflict tormenting Detective Jim McLeod is played out. McLeod, portrayed by Douglas, is a relentless officer who hates crime and criminals, admits no middle ground between good and bad. While desperately trying to pin a conviction on an unlicensed doctor who victimizes girls in trouble, he uncovers an appaling fact: His wife has had professional dealings with the unsavory medico while keeping company with a small time gambler.

Along the line there are sharply etched views of the nervous tension, color and excitement of a detective squad room as pickpockets, derelicts, murders and psycopaths unfold their personal dramas of viciousness, confusion and misfortune.

Eleanor Parker is cast as the good wife with a bad past and William Bendix portrays a veteran detective with an understanding of human weakness.

The Paramount theatre management says "Detective Story" is adult movie fare a story you can get your teeth into but frankly speaking "Detective Story" gets pretty rough - so leave Junior at home.

OZZIE, HARRIET ON TEM SCREEN

Bring Entire Family In 'Here Come The Nelsons' Picture

Filming of Universal - International's "Here Come the Nelsons," starring Ozzie and Harriet Nelson and their two youngsters, David and Ricky, marked the first time an entire family appeared in a motion picture since the Gleasons made the "Higgins Family" series twelve years ago.

The new comedy hit, opening Wednesday at the Tem Theatre, also stars Rock Hudson and features Barbara Lawrence, Sheldon Leonard and Jim Backus.

Since the start of their radio show, "The Adventures of Ozzie and Harriet," in 1944, Ozzie and his wife have kept it at the top among domestic comedy programs on the nation's airwaves. The show has gained popularity each year and civic and religious organizations have repeatedly awarded it highest honors.

With the addition of their two sons, David, 14, and Ricky, 11, to play themselves on the air show, Ozzie and Harriet gave their radio program a final touch of authenticity which is now carried into the screen adaptation.

George McDonald, a blind bowler, rolled four games in the ABC singles at Los Angeles in 1937 without any mechanical assistance.

Highly Charged Suspense Plus Top Performers In 'No Highway In Sky'

James Stewart And Marlene Dietrich Starred In Joy Film

Highly charged with suspense and crammed with action, "No Highway in the Sky" is the story of a scientific investigation upon which the fate of a great airliner holds in the balance. Starring James Stewart as an eccentric researcher whose grave discovery leads to doubt and peril, and Marlene Dietrich as a glamorous international star of the screen who becomes involved with Stewart during a critical transatlantic crossing by air, "No Highway in the Sky" enlists ingenious terms to resolve an outstanding drama of intrigue and danger.

Stewart is ideally cast in the offbeat role of an outwardly unimpressive and peculiar scientist who uncovers and attempts to communicate a theoretical failing in the design of a great airliner. The glamorous Dietrich, perfectly suited to the role of international star, adds her great beauty and talent to the defense of his position and the strength of his battle against prejudice and ridicule. Stewart is also supported by an ingenious young airline hostess whose faith in his cause comes to count heavily. She is expertly portrayed by the pert British actress, Glynis Johns.

There is capital supporting work, too, from Jack Hawkins as Stewart's resolute scientific superior who is prompted by his lack of certainty about Stewart's dependability to place him under grave suspicion and investigation, and from young Janette Scott, enacting the role of the widower Stewart's daughter who helps bring the lovely ladies Dietrich and Glynis Johns into her father's lonely life.

"No Highway in the Sky," made on authentic exteriors in England by Twentieth Century - Fox, contains the attributes of an exciting romantic story as well as the ingredients of a super - charged thriller. In combination, the attraction, which will make its local bow at the Joy next Sunday is one of the most meritorious of the season and as surefire an entertainment buy as a moviegoer could demand.

Supporting James Stewart, Marlene Dietrich and the featured cast in "No Highway in the Sky" are Elizabeth Allan, Ronald Squire, Jill Clifford, Naill MacGinnis and Kenneth More.

Frankly Speaking..

—TO THE MEN
You have asked repeatedly for adult movie fare; a story you can get your teeth into, a hero that isn't phony. Well, here it is, but frankly speaking "DETECTIVE STORY" gets pretty rough, so leave junior at home!

—TO THE WOMEN
You may know a wife like Mary, who tries to hide her secret. You know a husband like Jim, who thought he was broadminded until it came to HIS wife! This all adds up to pretty strong stuff, but as an adult woman, you will understand Mary's story.

—TO THE YOUNGSTERS
Don't gripe when Mon and Dad ask you not to join them when they see "DETECTIVE STORY"! It's the kind of picture that will run forever, so see it when you are a little older.

"I'm a Woman, Jim . . all flesh and love!"

TV GROWING PAINS

Los Angeles (AP)—What television needs most today is an adult audience willing to help TV through its childhood and adolescence.

So says Jack Morrison, lecturer in theater arts at the University of California. Adults should be selective about their programs and should let the sponsor know by mail which shows they like, says Morrison.

Bible Comment

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

Repeatedly in the account of the early Christian church in the first few chapters of the Book of the Acts it is stated that the disciples had all things in common.

It was an ideal situation, for "great grace was upon them all," the common fund was distributed "unto each according as any one had need," and nobody lacked.

Moreover, it was a voluntary sort of communism, very unlike the modern-day dictatorships established in violence and force.

Yet this apparently ideal early Christian communism did not last, and the various attempts to establish ideal communistic communities have failed, though some like the famous Oneida community, became economically profitable.

Why did early Christian communism fail? Chiefly because the Christians themselves failed, but also because by its very nature communism denies a wholesome sense of individualism in faith and action and substitutes enforced discipline for a free and voluntary expression of the impulses of brotherly love.

If all Christians, both then and later, had been as nobly unselfish as Barnabas, whose whole course as recorded in the Book of Acts ought to be studied for its inspiration, much might have been, and still might be, possible. But there were Ananiases and Sapphiras (Acts 5) in that early church, whose secret motives were selfish.

Just why that couple should have been among the Christian disciples at all is not clear. They were under no obligation to profess something in which they did not believe. In fact it is difficult to account for the presence of some in the early church who seem to have lacked any deep or real sense of the religion they professed.

What wordly motice could have induced any one to join a small company, subject to derision and persecution, seems hard to understand, yet Paul's Epistles make the facts quite plain.

Loafers, grafters, and sycophants are always in evidence where they can prey upon the kindliness and goodwill of others.

The notion that Christians should love one another, and the evidence that they did so apparently impressed some who set out to take advantage of that love.

No man believed in brotherly love more than the Apostle Paul but he was an eminently practical man and no shallow sentimentalist.

He supported himself by working at his own craft of tent-making. When he saw lazy, loafing professed Christians using the doctrine of love to assert the obligation of others to support them, Paul laid down the law in no uncertain terms: "If any would not work, neither should he eat."

The Christian gospel and the Christian life enjoin brotherly love, but they enjoin equally individual responsibility.

Paul found no inconsistency in putting together two texts: "Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ," and "Every man must bear his own burden."

That is great and important teaching for today.

The school was privileged, too, during the past week with the visit of the Reverend Maurice Rousseve, of the Divine Word Fathers in Bay St. Louis. Father Rousseve addressed the student body in assembly, and spoke at length on Brotherhood Week, which was being observed throughout the city at that time.

Members of the Matthuan Art Club met for their lesson in church this week. Their subjects for study include the tabernacle, the crucifix, the Sacred Heart statue, that of St. Matthew, of The Blessed Virgin, and that of St. Joseph, also the shrine dedicated to Our Lady of Perpetual Help, the stained glass window of St. Matthew, and the baptismal fount in the rear of the church. These drawings will be used in the school's current yearbook, the Matthuan. Members who are under the direction of Mr. J. V. Spatafora of The Art Shop are: Albert Thibeaux, J. D. LAW OF LIFE

Every action, every phase of life, is ordained by immutable law. Water will drown; fire will burn; getting must follow giving. There is a price on everything that touches the life of mankind and there is no dodging that price. We all must live by the law. Whenever we try to evade it, we are punished by failure. Too late we learn that defiance of nature's laws, life's ways, is certain to be met with grief and tears and the loss of what we snatched outside the law.

Every so often, men grown proud in their mastery of nature and life's ways forget and try to make laws for themselves. They forget that the only way good can be purchased and held is by giving it in as generous a portion as possible. They take what they have not purchased by service; they let greed devour them; they try to reap where they have not sown. That is impossible. They for a time seem to have succeeded but the law begins its slow advance and soon its weight bears down upon the grasping ones and their place knows them no more. The law is uppermost always.

Freedom is a spiritual matter. Those who think to buy it with wealth grasped in the hands of greed know no freedom. Those who would maintain it at the expense of others lose what little they ever knew of it. Those who would take it by force see it slip through their hands. Only the pure in heart know freedom.

It is sad to see young people binding themselves with chains of evil in the mistaken notion that they are asserting their freedom. When a young person declares that he will do as he pleases, keep late hours, drink, gamble, what not, he certainly is not freeing himself. When anybody, young or old, seeks freedom in defiance of good, in defiance of other folks' welfare, they are not asserting freedom. They are asserting the power of error and error has no lasting power. Error dies of its own will. Good never dies. No matter how often it's denied, obscured, belittled, it remains, and in time, returns in full power and glory.

My concern is with children and young people. They must know that every time they forsake the way they know is good for a brief moment of fun they know to be wrong, they bind themseves. Each action that demies good adds a bond to the spirit. The only freedom there is in earth and heaven is the freedom of the spirit and that is born of goodness, righteousness, service.

Life has its price. It has its stern laws. Freedom must be gained under those laws and at this price. There is no other way. Teach that and you teach true knowledge.

NOW SHOWING AT THE TEM

YOUNG SINGER

FRANKLIN KENNEDY

Kennedy Sings On Sears Mike

Franklin Kennedy, who sings daily over KNOE in Monroe via the Liberty Broadcasting System, is noted for his wisdom and versatile style of singing hit tunes of the past.

The handsome young LBS tenor has won a wide audience with his Monday-through - Friday morning network radio show aired from Dallas. To millions of listeners his program is a "must."

According to C. D. McAdams, manager of the Sears store here, which sponsors his show locally, Kennedy launched his singing career while a student at Texas University. He appeared in numerous college productions and was a singing member of the famous "Longhorn Quartette."

Kennedy made the most of his first big opportunity, the swank Century Room of the Adolphus Hotel in Dallas, and has continued to rise in the entertainment field.

Among the productions with which he has starred are the 1951 Dallas "Starlight Operetta", the "Diamond Garter Revue" at the State Fair of Texas and variety shows for the American Fashion Association.

Kennedy started broadcasting for LBS a little more than a year ago and now has two daily shows, "Open House," and "Franklin Kennedy Shaw." His announcer is Tom Murphy, well-known among network listeners.

OLD DOCUMENT

Bad Godesberg, Germany (AP)—Theodor Liedstedt got out of a refugee camp in 1949 and rented a room of his own together with some second-hand furniture, from local welfare authorities. Included was a desk which looked like an antique.

Recently he bought a second-hand book that described secret drawers master craftsmen once built in desks and cabinets. Liedstedt studied his desk and found a secret drawer that contained a document dated in 1813. It certified that a Theodor Liedstedt and his wife gave their wedding rings for their Prussian fatherland, then at war with Nepoleon.

The document was issued at Glogau, an East German town which Theodor Liedstedt's namesake and great-grand-nephew had fled in 1945.

'The Highwayman' To Open Friday

Jack Dietz' production of "The Highwayman," star-studded adventure story in Cinecolor for Allied Artists, comes to the Paramount theater on Friday with one of the strongest casts ever assembled for a motion picture.

With Charles Coburn, Wanda Hendrix, Phillip Friend, Cecil Kellaway and Victor Jory starred, "The Highwayman" achieves a rare combination of a perfect love story with the slashing action of swordsmen and fast riding nobles of pre - revolutionary England.

"The Highwayman" is the classical poem by the famed Alfred Noyes. Friend, good looking Englishman, plays the title role. Wanda Hendrix is cast as Bess, the in - keeper's daughter. In one sequence Wanda portrays a boy intent on holding up a stagecoach. The part, besides being highly romantic, calls for Wanda to ride a horse like the wind, handle swords and give a good account of herself with duelling pistols. Coburn is cast as a scheming nobleman.

GAS IN TOKYO

Tkyo (AP) — The Tokyo prefectural government hopes that exploitation of a large natural gas deposit beneath the city may eventually solve the fuel problems of this metropolis of five million persons.

A survey just completed by the Japanese economic stabilization board estimates the potential beneath Tokyo at 52 billion cubic yards.

American gas experts say this would be a sizable field, about one-third that of California's big Rio Vista field at the time of its discovery. The discovery well was drilled last March. It hit gas and warm salt water at 1,900 feet.

FLASH GORDON — by Mac Raboy and Don Moore

AS THE MARTIAN CANAL-PLANE ALIGHTS ALONGSIDE THE CASTAWAYS, QUEEN MENTA'S PILOT CALLS OUT: "BEWARE OF THESE EARTH-PEOPLE, PRINCE SAVI. THEY STOOD IDLY BY WHILE YOUR SISTER DROWNED!" FLASH GRIPS HIS HIDDEN GUN... BUT THE NEW RULER OF MARS MAKES NO HOSTILE MOVE. "I WAS THOUGHT-TALKING WITH MENTA TILL THE END," HE SAYS.

"THE ACCIDENT WAS MENTA'S FAULT," SAVI CONTINUES. "I'VE ALWAYS OPPOSED HER MAD SCHEME TO CONQUER THE EARTH!" FLASH EAGERLY URGES A TREATY OF INTER-PLANETARY FRIENDSHIP AS THEY RETURN TO THE PALACE.

FINDING PRINCE SAVI COMPLETELY COOPERATIVE, FLASH IMMEDIATELY BEGINS WORK WITH THE LEADING MARTIAN SCIENTISTS, THOUGHT-RECORDING THE MOST USEFUL NON-MILITARY INVENTIONS OF THE TWO PLANETS' CIVILIZATIONS. FLASH IS ELATED BY THE SURPRISING TURN OF EVENTS. HE KNOWS THAT THE EARTH WILL BENEFIT GREATLY BY THIS UNITY WITH MARS.

THEIR LABORS FINISHED, PRINCE SAVI GIVES FLASH HIS FASTEST SPACE-ROCKET TO RETURN TO EARTH WITH A MARTIAN ENVOY AND A GROUP OF SCIENTISTS. LINC, REMAINING ON MARS AS EARTH'S TEMPORARY AMBASSADOR, WAVES A LONELY FAREWELL.

THE GREAT SHIP SPEEDS SERENELY THROUGH THE TRACKLESS HEAVENS. TO PASS THE TIME, FLASH TUNES IN ON THE SPACE-SCANNER...AND GASPS AT WHAT HE SEES!

"SOMETHING'S TERRIBLY WRONG!" FLASH EXCLAIMS, AS DALE AND THE MARTIAN ENVOY HURRY TO HIS SIDE. "LOOK AT THAT EARTH-IMAGE! IT'S INCREDIBLE! SOLID ICE OVER MOST OF NORTH AMERICA AND EUROPE!"
